THE INSURRECTION IN CANDIA.

DETAILS OF THE LATE BATTLE.

INSANITY OF EMPRESS CARLOTTA.

Farewell of the King of Hanover.

Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.

By the Atlantic cable we have a news report dated in London, Paris, Berlin, and Liverpool yesterday evening, October 24.

The United States war vessels Miantonomah and Augusta are at Cherbourg.

The Castle of Konigstein, on the Elbe, has been ceded to Prussia.

Consols were at 89¾ in London at noon. United States Five-twenties were at 68¾ at noon.

The Liverpool Cotton Market was easier, and prices had declined one-fourth of a penny at noon.

The Empress of Mexico was at Miramar from Rome. A London journal, of the 13th instant, says:—"The intelligence received from Miramar relative to the health of the Empress Charlotte is not satisfactory." Our Paris correspondent details the symptoms, inception, and progress of the melancholy attack which seized her Majesty in Rome. The hallucination was evidenced by her insisting that she was summoned by Mexican and other enemies who sought to take her life, so she absolutely refused to quit the Vatican. The Pope treated her with much kindness, inviting foreign ladies of distinction to remain with her during the night; the Empress being accommodated in the palace, contrary to rule and precedent.

It is said in Paris that Napoleon's health is considerably improved. On the contrary, it is reported from Berlin that he is in quite a dangerous condition, and that his death may be looked for at any moment.

Most of the French journals give up the cause of Maximilian in Mexico. Some Paris writers, however, assert that he will not abdicate, but attempt to rule in a narrowed area of territory.

From the seat of war in Candia we have an account of the massacre perpetrated by the Turks on many unarmed Christians after the defeat of the Sultan's troops, with official evidences of the high-toned feeling which animates the revolutionists.

The London Times of the 13th of October says:—"The Americans have been devising fortifications and casting guns on various models, and they have now tried one of these novelties against the other. The experiment at Fortress Monroe proved more than the weakness of unarmored granite, for it showed the insufficiency of 4-inch armor."

THE INSURRECTION IN CANDIA.

The Repulse of the Turkish Troops—Excitement in Athens—The Turkish Atrocities.

Athens (Oct. 4) Correspondence London Daily News.

The latest advices from Candia are to the 1st instant, and fully confirm the repulse of the Turkish troops in their attack upon the intrenched positions taken up by the insurgents on the mountains of the interior.

A letter received here from Canea last night announces that the insurgents have completely defeated the Turko-Egyptian force in the neighborhood of Retheymnos. The expedition of Mustapha Pacha against the insurgent headquarters, situated on the heights of Apocoronos, has entirely failed, and his forces have been obliged to fall back, and encamp under the walls of Canea. The insurgents maintained all their positions, even those furthest advanced, three hours' journey from Canea. Other engagements are announced in the district of Selinos, where the insurgents are also successful.

This news provoked great manifestations of joy in Athens yesterday evening. The crowds assembled in the streets cheered heartily for the insurgents, and proceeded in a body to the Palace place. Here, under the windows of the residences of the English, French, and Russian Ministers, cheers were raised for the "King!" "Candia!" and "the three powers!" Austria was also included in the popular acclamations. Everything passed off in an orderly manner, and the crowd even had the tact to avoid the residence of the Turkish Minister.

George Spiridakis, an priest resident as Asites, in Crete, has made the following deposition before M. Despotcos, Chancellor of the Greek Consulate at Canea:—This day, Monday, 11th September, 1866, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned George Spiridakis, priest, resident at Asites, in the district of Malevizion, presents himself before me, D. Despotcos, Chancellor of the Greek Consulate at Canea, and deposed as follows:—On the 27th August last, the Turco-Egyptian force, after having pillaged and burnt the village of Asites, commenced to massacre the few Christian inhabitants remaining, many having previously fled from the place. I myself witnessed the butchery of three of these unfortunate persons.

On account of the danger which threatened us, I left Asites with my family, consisting of seventeen persons, and concealed them in a grotto on Mount St. Anthony, in the hope of saving them. But the Turkish troops, after having finished pillaging and burning, came towards the grotto in which we had sought refuge. On reaching it they summoned us to come forth, when I and my son Emmanuel went out to them; the rest, being too much afraid to leave the grotto, remained behind.

The soldiers then kindled a fire at the mouth of the grotto, and burnt all who were within, without being moved in the slightest degree by their heart-rending cries. As for myself and my son, after having ill-treated us, they loaded us with chains at the hands, the feet, and neck, and took us to St. Myron to the Pacha, who sent us to Castron under escort. There we were thrown into prison and underwent much suffering. The soldiers struck us, spat at us, and examined their ingenuity in inventing some fresh ill-treatment and indignity, each more severe than the last. We were constantly told that if we would abjure our religion we should be set at liberty. On our refusal the punishments inflicted upon us were multiplied.

We remained in prison all the evening, and on the morrow, 31st, we were taken on board a frigate carrying the Turkish flag and anchored in the port of Sonda. Shortly afterwards we had to leave the frigate, and were taken on board a Turkish steamer anchored in the same port. On the deck of this vessel I saw fifteen Cretans in chains. My son and myself were also on the deck, and our ill treatment recommenced. At 10 o'clock at night a letter brought from the frigate to the steamer three Christians half naked, whom the sailors immediately seized and beheaded on the deck of our vessel. The heads and the blood fell into a wooden bucket placed on the spot for that purpose. Some time afterwards the bodies and heads were thrown into the sea. After committing this ferocious act several sailors came towards us, and said that we should meet with the same fate. One of them seized my son, drew his sword, and would have killed him on the spot had he not been restrained by one of his comrades. We were then subjected to fresh barbarities, and fell into a swoon. On the following morning we were taken on board another Turkish steamer, which brought us here, where we were taken before Mustapha Pacha, who, knowing us personally, set us at liberty.

In faith whereof the present deposition has been drawn up, signed by me and the said George Spiridakis, the deponent.

(Signed) GEORGE SPIRIDAKIS, Curate.

The Ex-King of Hanover.

The Hanoverian Gazette publishes the following proclamation addressed by King George V to his late subjects:—

"His Majesty King William of Prussia, having taken possession of the country and its Government by the patent of the 3d of the present month, in execution of the law of September 20, touching the union of the kingdom of Hanover to the Prussian Monarchy—a law enrolled among the statutes of Hanover—all the subjects of the kingdom of Hanover have been ordered to acknowledge henceforth the King of Prussia as their King and Sovereign, and to yield obedience to all his laws, ordinances, and commands.

"Being mindful, with a paternal affection, of the painful position, most distressing to their consciences, in which consequently many of the most faithful subjects of his Majesty have been placed, King George the Vth has been pleased to release, under reserve of all his rights, all the subjects of his kingdom, and especially those who are employed in the king's civil service, in ecclesiastical or educational functions, from the obligations and subjection and duty towards his Majesty and his lawful successors, arising from their official services and functions, under oath of service and allegiance, in order to meet the present case of conflict between such duties and that which is required by the King of Prussia, and so far as the performance of what is required of them shall be in contradiction to those duties, but with the reserve that such duties shall revive and become obligatory at any time when King George V, or one of his lawful successors, shall resume the exercise of the government of the kingdom. In making this declaration, with the object of tranquillizing some troubled consciences, we believe also that we may entertain the hope that the civil servants of the King will not hesitate in consequence to continue to perform their functions in the name of the King of Prussia.

"In times of difficulty like the present every one is subject to the supreme obligation of serving his country, with all the talents with which he is endowed, even though it be against his personal inclinations, and to contribute all the assistance in his power to the maintenance of law, and the furtherance of the common prosperity even under the new order of things, which by the inscrutable decree of Heaven we now witness.

"May it please God to continue in the future to our country those rich blessings which it has up to this time enjoyed! May He grant to his Majesty King George and his Royal House that consolation and happiness even under the heavy misfortune which has befallen them!

The Insanity of the Empress of Mexico.

A letter from Rome, in the Gazette du Midi, gives some further details respecting the Empress of Mexico. After stating that in a first interview with the Sovereign Pontiff her Majesty discussed with great earnestness the question of a Concordat with Mexico, and insisted with much pertinacity on obtaining from the Holy Father concessions which he deemed inadmissible, the letter says:—

"The Empress would not yield to the arguments, supremely wise and equitable, which the Holy Father met her demands; she would continue disputing with him, and persisted with an incredible obstinacy. In short, the rupture between the Holy See and Mexico, in spite of all the ability and tenacity of purpose displayed by the Empress, is now more complete than before. Her Majesty, however, is not so deserving of blame as might appear; all that was irregular and eccentric in her conduct towards the Holy Father must be attributed to the nervous excitement from which she has suffered so long, and which frequently disturbs her reason. She went at last one morning at 9 o'clock to the Pope without any previous announcement; she declared to him that she was the object of an atrocious persecution; that there were designs on her life; that an attempt had been made to poison her at the Hotel di Roma; that she did not believe herself safe and could not dine there. The Holy Father received her with quite fraternal kindness tranquilized, and reassured her, and ordered that dinner should be served for her in the Library of the Vatican, where she passed the rest of the day. In the evening an endeavor was made to get her to return to the hotel, but she refused, constantly repeating that she was followed by assassins and that she believed herself safe nowhere except in the Vatican. Her mind then again wandered, and she even objected to swallow a glass of water, fearing danger. The Pope then ordered an apartment to be prepared for her in his palace, where she passed the night, and the following day she was still there, not being willing to quit the Vatican, imagining that she saw murderers everywhere ready to take her life. Several foreign ladies were invited to pass the night with her, as she had sent away her maids of honor, whom she would not allow to come near her. The paroxysm of aberration appears to have been determined by despatches received this morning."

ITALY.

The Austro-Italian Treaty of Peace.

VIENNA, October 8.—The following is a summary of the stipulations of the Austro-Italian treaty of peace, signed at Vienna on the 3d instant:—

"From the day on which the ratifications of the treaty are exchanged perpetual peace and friendship shall exist between his Majesty the King of Italy, and his majesty the Emperor of Austria, their heirs and successors, their states and subjects.

The conditions stipulated at Cremona for the reciprocal restitution of Austrian and Italian prisoners of war are maintained.

The Emperor of the French having declared in the Treaty of Vienna on the 24th of August that so far as he is concerned Venetia is acquired for Italy, his Majesty the Emperor of Austria consents to the union of Venetia with Italy in the form determined by the Austro-French Treaty of Vienna above mentioned. The frontiers of the Venetian provinces ceded to Italy are the administrative frontiers of the said provinces under Austrian domination.

A military commission instituted by the high contracting parties will be deputed to trace out the boundary lines with shortest possible delay. The territories which are still occupied by the Imperial and Royal troops by virtue of the armistice concluded on the 12th August last, will be evacuated by those troops after the ratification of peace, and the said troops will immediately withdraw beyond the frontiers previously established.

The Government of his Majesty the King of Italy assumes a portion of the debt appertaining to the territories ceded by the present treaty, and which is fixed at 35,000,000 of florins, Austrian Convention currency, payable in eleven successive instalments within twenty-three months, in the manner and form established in the next additional article.

The Monte Lombardo-Venetian, with its assets of 3,500 000 florins, and its liabilities of 60,000,000 florins, passes entirely into the hands of the Government of his Majesty the King of Italy. The Government of the King of Italy succeeds to the rights and engagements resulting from the contracts negotiated entered into by the Austrian Administration in the interest of the ceded territory.

The Austrian Government is bound to reimburse all the sums paid into the Austrian Treasury as deposits of caution money by Lombardo-Venetian subjects, communes, public establishments, and religious corporations.

The Italian Government will be bound in like manner with respect to the sums paid by Austrian subjects and corporations into the Monte Lombardo-Venetian.

The Government of his Majesty the King of Italy recognizes and confirms the railway concessions granted by the Austrian Government in the ceded territory in all their stipulations and the periods of duration. From the day upon which the ratifications of the present treaty are exchanged, the Italian Government assumes all the rights and charges of the Austrian Government in respect to the above-mentioned concessions on the railway lines in the ceded territory. Until new and ulterior arrangements are made the total receipts of the two railway systems north and south of the Alps are admitted for the lines situated in the ceded territory, as the estimate of gross revenue upon which is based the estimate for the kilometric guarantee of thirty miles.

A special convention between the contracting parties, with participation of the railway company interested, without reservation as to time, and leaving full liberty to all parties, will regulate the mode of separating the two railway systems north and south of the Alps.

Lombardo-Venetian subjects domiciled upon the ceded territory will enjoy, during one year, after previous declaration before the competent autority, full and entire liberty to export their movable property free of duty, and to withdraw with their families to the States of his Imperial Royal Apostolic Majesty, in which case they will preserve their Austrian citizenship. They will be at liberty to retain their landed property upon Lombardo-Venetian territory.

The same right will belong to natives of Venetia living in the other provinces of the Austrian Empire. Those who avail themselves of these stipulations shall in no way be molested in their persons or their property situated in the respective States, on account of their opinions.

The above period of one year is extended to two years in the case of subjects, natives of the ceded territory, who at the time of the ratification of the present treaty may live out of the territory of the Austrian monarchy. Natives of the ceded territory who are in the Austrian army will immediately be discharged from service and sent to their homes.

It is understood that those among them who declare their wish to remain in the Imperial service will not on that account be molested either in their persons or property. The same guarantees are assured to the civil functionaries, natives of the ceded territory, who shall have manifested their intention of continuing in the offices which they hold in the Austrian service.

The regular civil and military pensions chargeable upon the Lombardo-Venetian treasuries remain payable to those entitled to them, and eventually to their widows and children, and will be paid in future by the Italian Government.

The archives containing titles to property, the administrative and judicial documents concerning the ceded territory, and the objects of art appertaining to the same existing among the archives of the Austrian Empire, will be handed over to the Commissioners of his Majesty the King of Italy as soon as possible.

All the treaties and conventions previously concluded between his Majesty the King of Italy and his Majesty the Emperor of Austria will be confirmed in all that is not annulled by the present treaty. Nevertheless, the two contracting parties engage themselves to submit those treaties and engagements in the course of the year to a general revision, in order to introduce in the same, by common accord, those modifications which may be considered beneficial in the interest of the two countries. Navigation upon the Lake of Garda is free, subject to the particular regulations of the ports and the littoral police.

A convention to regulate the necessary measures for preventing and repressing contraband trade will be concluded between Austria and Italy within a year from the date upon which the ratifications of the present treaty are exchanged. Meanwhile, the convention concluded on the 22d of November, 1861, between Sardinia and Austria will remain in force.

The Italian Government raises the sequestration upon all the private property of the Italian exprinces, without prejudice, however, to the rights of the State, and the right of the third portion over the property in question. In order to contribute in the best manner possible to the restoration of peace, his Majesty the King of Italy and his Majesty the Emperor of Austria declare and promise, both in their respective territories and in the restituted or ceded countries, that no person compromised during the late events in the Peninsula, to whatever class or condition belonging, shall be prosecuted, molested, or disturbed, either personally or in their property, on account of their conduct or their political opinions.

United States District Court—Judge Cadwallader.—New York Warehous Company vs Pennsylvania Railroad Co. An action to recover damages for failure to deliver a large number of barrels of oil. On trial.

District Court—Judge Sharswood.—J. M. Ellis & Son vs John F Huches. An action to recover of the defendant the price paid by plaintiffs for certain coal oil barrels, and the amount they brought at a subsequent public sale, as they were sold by reason of being of bad quality and unfit for use.

District Court—Judge Hare—James Potts vs. L. & P Grosholtz. A feigned issue to try the ownership of certain goods.

Joseph A Bonham vs Samuel Lowenfield. Before reported. Verdict for plaintiff.

FUNERAL OF JOHN A. DOUGHERTY, ESQ.—The funeral of this old and much respected citizen took place this morning, from his late residence, No. 1758 Frankford road, and was very largely attended. The members of the Hibernian Society and the Corn Exchange Association, of which the deceased was a prominent member, were present in full force, the Hibernians wearing green rosettes.

The funeral services were held at St. Michael's Catholic Church, where a solemn mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. Father Tracy, after which an appropriate discourse was delivered by Rev. M. A. Walsh, Rector of St. Michael's, from the text:—"It is appointed for all men once to die, but after this the judgment."—St. Paul to Hebrews, chapter ix, v. 27.

He explained at much length the ceremonies of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass offered for the deceased, which was commemorative of the body and blood of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. He also explained the doctrine of the Church in regard to purgator; and, after dwelling upon the virtues of the deceased, he called on all present to pray for the repose of his soul.

A grand requiem was was sung by a superior choir, under the direction of Thomas E. Harkins, Esq., and many parts of it were very fine, especially the "Dies iræ," and a Latin dirge entitled "Sicut pastor gregem suum pascet." The interment took place at the Cathedral Cemetery.

Eugenie's Reliquary.—La France, in its obituary notice of Count Baciocchi, who died in Paris recently, says that the Empress "sent to him, as an act of unexampled favor, to keep in his room so long as his illness should last, as she had kept it in hers at the moment of the birth of the Prince Imperial, a jewel which is assuredly the most precious of the crown of France. This is a reliquary, the skilful work of Froment Meurice, in which is seen a shred of the swaddling clothes of Jesus Christ, a bit of the Virgin's veil, a strip of St. John the Baptist's winding sheet, and in the middle, suspended in the manner of a pendulum, Charlemagne's talisman—given by the magistrates of Aix-la-Chapelle to the First Napoleon—about the dimensions of a crown piece, and formed of an aqua marina, within which is seen, crossed, two fragments of the true cross. This rare medley of powerful relics is reinforced by a splinter of the bone of Charlemagne's own right arm." Nevertheless, Death was too powerful for the Empress' famous reliquary.

Death of a French Journalist.—The Paris correspondent of the London Star writes:—"One of the most distinguished contributors to La France, M. Auguste Polo, whose nom de plume was 'Polin,' has died very suddenly from Asiatic cholera. He was but thirty-three, and beloved by all who knew him. For five years he was secretary to the Courrier des Etats Unis, and while he lived at New York he acquired a thorough knowledge of English. His brother was murdered a few months since by some negroes at Cayenne, where his family have great estates."

The Iron Trade in Lombardy.—The statistics of the iron trade in the Lombardy valleys, in Italy, are thus given:—Mineral annually excavated, quintals, 300,000; the same roasted and smelted, 250,000; produce in pig iron, 110,000; of which 20,000 is for casting in projectiles, cannon, machinery, etc., and the remainder for refining into iron and steel, for purposes of all sorts, and producing of such about 70,000 quintals. Value of all the articles produced, 12,000,000 francs; total consumption of charcoal, quintals, 400,000; total of hands employed in the iron industry, 6920.

A Long Peal.—A campanologian company, called the Bannister family—the oldest member of which is seventy years old—rang a stupendous number of changes upon some Kentish church chimes the other day. The time occupied was three hours and ten minutes, and "a true and complete peal of five thousand and forty grandsire triples" was rung.

A Call.—It is related that the clerk of a rural church in England recently made the following announcement to the congregation:—"You are desired to attend a meeting in the vestry, at 4 o'clock, to consider on the means of seating the church, and to digest other matters."

—A man, who was stolen from Jackson, Mich., thirty years ago, when a mere boy, has just returned to his parents, who for a lifetime had supposed him dead.

OUR MEXICAN RELATIONS.

RECENT STATEMENTS DENIED.

Reported Proposals to the Liberals are "Mere Fancy Work."

WASHINGTON, October 25.—The National Republican of this morning says:—"We have authority for stating that the newspaper assertions about the details of affairs between the Liberal Government of Mexico and the United States is unofficial and unauthorized, and is mere fancy work."

MEXICO.

Doleful Condition of the Empire—Maximilian Going to Vera Cruz—No Fight at Matamoras—The Liberals Preparing for the Combat Etc.

HAVANA, October 20.—In the course of my conversations with some officers, mostly very intelligent men and true, I found no equivocations in the doleful accounts obtained from other sources with regard to the actual situation of Mexico—all was represented to be in a hopeless condition; and if any reaction could by some miracle or other take place, there it could only be consummated by the master-spirit of some one more competent than Maximilian.

Whatever may have been the views of Maximilian, or however good his intentions, he was not the man to regenerate Mexico. Napoleon must have been very short-sighted to have chosen simply a well-instructed, well-intentioned gentleman like Maximilian to rule over such a race as the mass of the Mexicans are known to be. What the Mexicans want is a strong-minded, rough and ready, actng man, with an iron arm—one that will take the head of an army, and leave his subordinates to make kites in the bureau. Every traveller who has arrived here from Mexico for the last two years has spoken to the same effect. The Mexicans never understood Maximilian, however scholarlike he knew their language; and Maximilian to this day does not know the Mexicans.

He allowed himself to be deceived from the very outset, by one party more so than by another. All his acts prove that he ever and anon vacillated—his volubility had no end. And yet he is one of the best-intentioned men in the world, which, however, in Mexican idiom, means of no account. Bazaine is an ambitious man, far too much so to do Maximilian any good. Carlotta was the first to discern it, and acted promptly, according to the emergency. Bazaine had in view, it is said, something more than the mere interests of either Maximilian or the Mexicans; but Carlotta overreached him, though it was at the eleventh hour. Yet, after all, a dictatorship might have been the best form of government under the circumstances. The only question would have been whether Bazaine was the proper chief to assume such a post.

MAXIMILIAN WANTING FUNDS.

A conference was held on the 6th inst. at the palace in Chapultepec, to which many of the wealthy classes were invited, with a view to concert with the ministry the best means to provide funds to the treasury, which was in a deplorable condition, and had important engagements to meet. The only result obtained was the naming of a committee, charged to make up a report of the situation, accompanied by such suggestions as would speedily replenish the treasury with the needful.

CARLOTTA EXPECTED HOME.

A despatch had been received in very positive terms that Carlotta was to embark for Mexico on the 16th instant, having been persuaded not to go by the September packet on account of the equinoctials. The Estafette of the 9th, however, says as follows:—"It appears certain that the Empress has embarked in a French vessel of war, which is expected to be in Vera Cruz by the end of the month. Part of the Court will proceed to said port to celebrate her happy arrival, and one of the members of the private cabinet has already gone there to prepare the way to her Majesty. This will do away with all rumors of an early abdication."

The Emperor was preparing to go to Vera Cruz to receive the Empress.—N. Y. Herald.

FROM TURK'S ISLAND.

A FEARFUL TORNADO.

Eight Hundred Houses Destroyed—Twenty Persons Killed and Many Injured and Rendered Homeless—Immense Destruction of Property, Etc. Etc.

HALIFAX, October 25.—The schooner Victor, arrived at Luneburg, makes the following report:—Turk's Island, on the 30th of September, was visited with a terrific hurricane, destroying over 800 houses and their contents. Twenty lives were lost, and a number of persons crippled and otherwise injured. Over 3000 persons were rendered houseless, penniless, and almost naked. The whole laboring portion of the colony is in the most destitute condition.

The public schools, armory, jail, quarantine, hospital, market, and all the Government out buildings were blown down. The Government house and public offices were shattered, and 12,000 bushels of salt were swept away. Six foreign and twelve island crafts were lost, with twenty of their crews.

At Salt Cay the ruin was equally severe. Five vessels went ashore, among them the schooner Sally J. Aiken, of Wilmington, Del., and the brigantine A. G. Catlell, of Philadelphia.

At Cockburn harbor the ruin is quite as great. Scarcely enough houses remain to shelter the destitute.

The schrooner L. Rich, from New York, broke from her moorings and put to sea on Sunday. Four other vessels were lost.

Accident on the Virginia and Tennessee Railroad—Three Men Killed.

LYNCHBURG, October 23.—The engine James F. Johnson, attached to a freight train on the Virginia and Tennessee Railroad, exploded its boiler this morning, when three miles from Bristol, killing Samuel Smithson, the engineer, and Franklin, the fireman, and a negro brakesman, Bob Brown. Franklin leaves a wife and children in this city. Smithson was unmarried.

JEFF. DAVIS' TRIAL.

Further Postponement Until Next Spring—The Causes of this Delay, and Who is to Blame for it—Chief Justice Chase Puts the Fault on Congress, Etc.

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., October 23.—The recent correspondence between President Johnson and Attorney-General Stanbery, relative to further action on the part of the Executive to bring Jeff. Davis to trial, has served to very materially enlighten the public upon the present state of affairs. For the present, at least, and perhaps for months to come, it will occupy just the same position, and another term of the United States Circuit Court will be suffered to go by without any action to try the prisoner being taken by the judicial authorities.

The legal difficulties in the way of holding the Court at Richmond, in consequence of the adjournment from Norfolk in June last, are a serious detriment to its proceedings, and it is hardly doubted now that the Court will not assemble next month in Richmond, as was before generally supposed. This, of course, involves a further postponement of a civil trial of Davis under the indictment for treason presented at the last term of the Circuit Court; and in all probability he will be kept in confinement the entire winter, that is to say, until the spring term of the Court, excepting, of course, that Executive clemency does not interpose and grant him a parole and release from his confinement.

In December, when the Supreme Court of the United States meets, Judge Chase will be too busy to devote any of his time or attention to other legal matters, and the advocates of a speedy trial of Davis, both in the North and in the South, have nothing to hope for from the present action of the judicial authorities. Neither is it likely that a writ of habeas corpus will be issued upon the Commandant of the Fortress, acting as his custodian, demanding his deliverance to the United States Marshal, for incarceration in a Virginia State jail.

As long as he remains a prisoner in the hands of the United States Government, he will be retained here in a United States fortress, and guarded beyond all possibility of escape. The statement of United States District Attorney L. H. Chandler to Attorney-General Stanbery confirms this view, in assigning two different reasons which influence him in not taking any steps for not removing him from their custody—the one relating to his safe keeping, the other to his own personal comfort and health.

From the New York Herald this morning.

FORTRESS MONROE, October 23—November, the appointed time for the trial of Jeff. Davis, is rapidly drawing close upon us, but the present confused complexion of affairs bearing upon the trial gives very little encouragement that this important event will find an early place on the calendar of the United States Court or any other civil tribunal. Against this general and undoubted result from a conversation to-day with Mr L H Chandler, United States District Attorney for this District.

In the way of a session of the United States Court being held next month in Richmond stands the failure to allot judges over the districts as newly laid out in the act of Congress at its last session. The difficulty can only be obviated by Congress, which, as is well known, will not meet until December, unless a special session is called by the President, which is altogether too remote a contingency to base any calculation upon. Furthermore, the United States Supreme Court meets in December, when Congress convenes, and with the present multiplicity of important causes before the Court, Chief Justice Chase will have his hands too full of business to attend to anything else.

From this brief exposition of facts, it will be seen that there is no present likelihood, notwithstanding what Mr. Davis may anticipate, or his friends or counsel anticipate, or wish for him, of his being brought to trial till next spring at the earliest. Chief Justice Chase has informed Mr Chandler of his perfect readiness and even anxiety to have on the trial, but casts the blame upon the stupid blundering made by the last Congress in its meddling with the geographical boundaries of the judicial districts in the manner it did, without making the proper allotment of judges to conform with the other changes. Regarding the issue of a writ of habeas corpus by any State or local court, Mr Chandler anticipates no such action, but on the contrary feels well assured it will not be done. His explanations on this point in the recent published correspondence of the President, Attorney-General, and himself, are abundantly explicit, and need not be recapitulated here.

The issue of any such writ, as no one can fail to see, would be hostile to the best interests of Mr. Davis, as to the President pardoning Mr. Davis, it is the opinion of Mr. Chandler that the former has no right to do it, and will not venture on any such step. He does not believe either that the President will grant him any further parole than he now enjoys; but this last statement is a mere matter of opinion; and thus the case stands. Mr. Davis seems like y to be booked here for the winter. He may murmur against it, and so may his friends; but there seems no help for it. As in the past, so in the future, on finding this fate inevitable, he will doubtless bear up with like firmness of manner and calm and patient hope.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The semi-monthly sales by the San Francisco and Pacific Sugar Refinery have been discontinued, in view of the condition of the market.

Private letters say that the treasure of the Bremen barque Sibelle, buried on Wake Island, has been recovered and sent to Hong Kong.

The schooner Harriet Rowe, from the Ockotsh sea, brings 3000 codfish, and reports that on the 6th of August the whaling barque Midas had 500 barrels of oil.

Prime wheat is quoted to-day at 17·7½ per 100 pounds.

There is more firmness in mining shares. Chollar Potosi is quoted at $110; Ophir, $38; Yellow Jacket, $654; Crown Point, $975; Legal-tenders, 71½.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—A Victoria despatch says, that Governor Bunedy and family sailed for San Francisco yesterday.

ELECTION INTELLIGENCE.

Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—The official vote of the State gives the Union majority on Congressmen at 11,869. The majority on the State ticket is over 3000 more. The Hon. Schuyler Colfax made the greatest Union gain. He increased his vote in every county, and carried his district by a majority of 1170 greater than in 1864. Mr. Colfax does not rest with his magnificent victory. He is actively engaged in the canvass in Illinois, and is greeted by thousands wherever he goes. The Hon. George W. Julian is also in Illinois, addressing tremendous meetings. These two men, Colfax and Julian, are the favorites of the Indiana radicals.

The official returns for the Legislature show the Senate to have 30 Union to 20 Democrats; the House 60 Union to 40 Democrats.

The Cohoes Failure.

THE LIABILITIES OVER HALF A MILLION DOLLARS.

TROY, October 24.—The official statements of the liabilities incident to the Cohoes failure do not differ from my previous estimates. In the case of both firms, namely, Alden, Frink & Weston and W. J. Ten Eyck & Co., the total liabilities amount to $524,109·01. The public dissatisfaction at many of the more compromising features of this financial fiasco increases as the failure grows older.

FROM BALTIMORE TO-DAY.

Dedication of the Peabody Institute—A Splendid Affair—The Police Commissioners and Governor Swann, Etc.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE EVENING TELEGRAPH.]

BALTIMORE, October 25.—The dedication of the Peabody Institute on Mount Vernon Square is now going on. The attendance is very large, both of ladies and gentlemen. Governor Swann is there, and made the dedicatory address. Mr. Peabody also made an address, and announces his additional gift to the Institute of half a million of dollars. Mr. Peabody holds a levee for several hours in the Institute to greet his friends.

The Board of Trade, and Corn and Flour Exchanges proffer him in a few days a grand complimentary dinner.

The affairs of the Police Commissioners are unchanged. They are determined to disregard Governor Swann's action, and to manage the coming election in their own way.

From Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, October 25.—The Courier special says the citizens of Stevenson, Alabama, loudly condemn the incendiary act by which the Freedmen's school-house there was burned on Monday. It was erected by the Pennsylvania Freedman's Relief Association, at a cost of $600.

The Daughters of Rebekah gave the Grand Lodge of Kentucky Odd Fellows a splendid banquet last evening.

Volney Shaw, from Columbus, was committed yesterday in default of bail to answer a charge of forgery.

Markets by Telegraph.

NEW YORK, October 25.—Cotton dull at 38@41c. Flour firm; sales of 9-00 bbls. at $8 90@12 75 for State; $11 30@14 25 for Ohio, $8 90@12 20 for Western, Southern $12 50@17. Wheat quiet; sales of 2000 bush. at $2 70 for Illinois. Corn quiet; sales 65,000 bush. at $1 13 for yellow. Beef dull. Pork firm; sales of 1000 bbls. at $33 95@34 for mess. Lard dull. Whisky steady.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

OFFICE OF THE EVENING TELEGRAPH,
Thursday, October 25, 1866.

The Stock Market was very dull this morning, but prices were steady. In Government bonds there was no material change to notice. 6s of 1881 sold at 113½; 106½ was bid for August 7-30s; 99½ for 10-40s; 114¼ for old 5-20s; and 110½ for new do. City loans were in fair demand. The new issue sold at 101½, an advance of ¼.

Railroad shares were the most active on the list. Camden and Amboy sold at 129½, no change; Pennsylvania Railroad at 57½, no change; Lehigh Valley at 67½, an advance of ½; and Philadelphia and Erie at 32½, no change. 35¾ was bid for Little Schuylkill; 60 for Norristown; 57½ for Minehill; 42 for Elmira preferred; 30½ for Catawissa preferred; and 48 for Northern Central.

City Passenger Railroad shares were firmly held. Second and Third sold at 90, an advance of 1; and Hestonville at 15½. 64 was bid for Tenth and Eleventh; 53¼ for Chesnut and Walnut; 30 for Green and Coates; and 12 for Lombard and South.

Bank shares continue in good demand for investment at full prices, but we hear of no sales. 140 was bid for First National; 111 for Sixth National; 103 for Seventh National; 230 for North America; 150 for Philadelphia; 134 for Farmers' and Mechanics'; 58 for Commercial; 33½ for Mechanics; 100 for Southwark; 100 for Kensington; 56 for Penn Township; 59 for Girard; 90 for Western; 33 for Manufacturers' and Mechanics'; 100 for Tradesmen's; 108 for City; 56 for Common wealth; and 70 for Corn Exchange.

Canal shares were unchanged. Schuylkill Navigation common sold at 28½; Susquehanna Canal at 15½; and Wyoming Valley Canal at 55; 36¾ was bid for Schuylkill Navigation preferred; 58 for Lehigh Navigation; and 57¾ for Delaware Division.

Quotations of Gold—10½ A. M., 146¾; 11 A. M., 147; 12 M., 146¾; 1 P. M., 147.

—The New York Herald this morning says:—"The Money Market remains easy at 4@5 per cent. for loans returnable on demand, the majority of the transactions being at the lower rate. Some of the bears are, however, endeavoring to excite apprehensions that a drain of currency westward and southward from this point is going forward, which will result in an advance of the rate of interest to seven per cent. for call loans. Doubtless the banks would like to get seven per cent. for their money, and they are disposed to encourage whatever leads in this direction, but it remains for us to say that there is no possibility of any further considerable drain either westward or southward.

Philadelphia Trade Report.

THURSDAY, October 25—There is very little Cloverseed coming forward, and the article is in fair request at $7@8·00 ₱ 64 pounds for old and new crop. A small lot of Timothy sold at $3 62½. Flaxseed is dull, and cannot be quoted over $3·15 ₱ bushel.

No 1 Quercitron Bark is held at $35 ₱ ton, but there is nothing doing.

There is a steady demand for Flour for home consumption, and holders are very firm in their views, but there is a total absence of any inquiry for shipment; sales of 1200 barrels, including 400 barrels Broad Street Mills, on private terms; 700 barrels Northwestern extra family at $13@13 75; Pennsylvania and Ohio do. do at $13 50@15 00; 200 barrels fancy Western at $15 50@16 00; extras at $9@12·00; and superfine at $7·75@8 75. Rye Flour is selling at $7·25@7 50 ₱ barrel. Nothing doing in Corn Meal.

The Wheat Market continues to be characterized by much firmness, and there is a good demand for the article, but the receipts and stocks are extremely small; sales of 1500 bushels choice red at $2 25@3·30; and 600 bushels spring at $2·75; white may be quoted at $3 35@3 40; sales of 2500 bushels Rye at $1 40 for Western. Corn is in good demand, and prices have again advanced; sales of yellow at $1·20; 2000 bushels Western mixed at $1·19 including 850 bushels white at $1 20. Magnanimity of Admiral Semmes.

From the Tribune.

We like magnanimity. It is one of the rarest and noblest of virtues, and in the smallest quantities should be thankfully accepted. How grateful should we then be for the overflow of this virtue among the Rebels ever since Mr. Johnson, with his usual propriety, put the Union in the position of an apologist for its victory. "We are a brave and galunt pepel," says John Pesky, "nu hav dun our best to distroi the Union, and we don't regret wot we hav dun, but onley that we didunt sukseed. But our holey caws is roolad, and therefor we cheerfully giv it up." With equal generosity, General Wade Hampton, who asserts that "the South is, and ever has been, loyal, in the proper sense of the term," is willing—notwithstanding the shameful breach of faith of which the North is guilty, and the "cruel and unnecessary war" it waged—that the Rebel States should take their old places in the Union. So Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, late Vice-President of the Confederacy, will reluctantly consent to take his seat in the United States Senate, and perhaps Mr. Davis might be persuaded to go back with him. Robert E. Lee, so Southern papers nobly urge, would be the very man to take command of a Union army, as, having done his best to destroy the Government, he ought to know how to defend it. Examples of this kind are numerous, and the South is full of chivalrous Rebels who are willing to forget the shameful behavior of the North, and endure the drudgery of office and the painful humiliation of a share in the Government.

But occasionally we meet with a Rebel who refuses to forgive our crimes. "Admiral Semmes," says the Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel, "has asked from the Federal Government no office, and we doubt, from our knowledge of the man, if he could be induced to accept one if tendered." What! can this be possible? Have all Mr. Johnson's labors to purify the Government and make it fit for Southern gentlemen to take part in been vain? Here we have a President who declares that the leaders of the Union party are as much traitors as the leaders of the Rebellion; who answers all talk of the hanging of Jeff. Davis by suggesting the hanging of Toad, Stevens; who describes the Congress of the United States as an illegal and unconstitutional body; and yet the chivalrous Semmes refuses to be mollified! He has asked no position of the Government! Startling news, which will alarm the nation. What is worse, he cannot be induced to accept one. Yet, when we recall his distinguished career at sea, and the list of American vessels robbed and burned by the Alabama, it is easy to imagine what value he would be to the Navy Department. Of course, he could take nothing less than an Admiralty; but he declines everything. Yet it was but a little while since the "Admiral" was in some danger of being offered a position by the Government, and a very elevated one, which it would not have been in his power to refuse. But the Government, with its accustomed brutal want of magnanimity, refused to force that honor upon the gallant rover, and is justly punished by his dignified refusal to have anything to do with it. The moral of the situation which Mr. Johnson has so ably brought about is understood by the Chronicle and Sentinel, and we are certain of the truth of its statement:—"While neither the South nor its distinguished citizens are disposed to abuse the National Government, we are very sure that none of us feel in any degree grateful for the way in which we have been treated. The magnanimity of the Federal Government we entirely fail to perceive or appreciate."

Prospect of a Reduction in Duties and Taxes.

From the Herald.

We have information which leads us to believe that the Revenue Commission, appointed to make investigations into the subject of revenue and to report thereon, will recommend a reduction on taking off entirely the tax on manufactures and raw articles, as well as a reduction of the income tax, probably to three per cent. on incomes over a thousand dollars, and cutting it off on all under that amount. It is believed, too, that the Secretary of the Treasury will endorse this recommendation in his own report to Congress next December.

To show the importance of the views of this Commission and the probability that Congress may act upon them, we call attention to the declared object which the Secretary of the Treasury and Congress had in creating a Commission. When Mr. Fessenden was Secretary he recommended in his report for 1864 that Congress should authorize him to appoint a Commission, to be composed of three suitable and efficient officers, to take into consideration the entire revenue system of the country, foreign as well as internal, to sift it thoroughly, and to make such recommendations for improving it as their investigations might suggest. This met the approval of Congress. That body saw that a Commission of this character was the best to take up the subject, that it would have nothing else to occupy itself with, and that it would have the entire period between the Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth Congresses to consider the important matter. The Commission was created accordingly, and was composed of three gentlemen selected especially on account of their experience and ability as political economists and statisticians. It has been in session since last spring, and has gone through a vast amount of work. Producers, manufacturers, merchants, and consumers have been examined by it, and statistics have been compiled with great care upon the whole subject. The result of these labors will be found in the forthcoming report which we refer to, and in the recommendation, which we understand will be made both by the Commission and the Secretary of the Treasury, for a reduction of duties and taxes.

This will be gratifying intelligence to the whole country, for while we are able to bear the present burdens, and have borne them without a murmur, there is no necessity to raise a superabundant revenue. In fact, to do so only leads to extravagance, corruption, and demoralization. The revenue the last fiscal year approached six hundred millions, and it is estimated that it will reach between six and seven hundred millions the year ending in 1867. The interest on the debt in round numbers is a hundred and fifty millions. The current expenses of the Government ought not to exceed a hundred and fifty millions more, including pension, support of the Freedmen's Bureau, and for claims growing out of the war, as well as for the support of the regular departments of Government. This is really a high estimate, and might be reduced probably the first year. It certainly would be too large for times of peace after we have disposed of claims growing out of the war and the Freedmen's Bureau. Then there should be a permanent sinking fund established, which need not exceed fifty millions a year.

From three hundred to three hundred and fifty millions would be an ample revenue. But if Congress will abolish the present national bank system, or rather if it will substitute non-interest bearing legal-tenders for the present national bank currency, and with these legal-tenders buy up the interest-bearing bonds which the banks deposit as security for their issue, and draw interest from, a great reduction can be made in our expenditures. Twenty millions a year at least would be saved—a sum which now is an absolute gratuity to the monopolizing and dangerous national bank corporations. This sum might form the sinking fund, which of itself at compound interest would liquidate the debt within thirty-five years. In that case the entire revenue for current expenses, interest and all, need not exceed three hundred millions. Half the present revenue—half our present taxes and duties—would be sufficient for all these purposes if the Secretary of the Treasury and Congress have ability enough to establish a proper financial system.

Let us hope that in the proposed reduction of duties and taxes Mr. McCulloch and Congress will not forget the South, that section of our country which has no opportunity of speaking for itself. An onerous tax lies heavily on the productions of a people who are crushed to the earth by poverty and misfortunes. The tax on cotton should be the first to be abolished. The South and the Southern people are least able of any under their present distress to bear a tax on production. We want to stimulate the productions of that splendid section of the republic and not to check them. Looking, then, at our immense superfluous income, we are gratified to see that there is a prospect of our burdens being lightened everywhere, South as well as North, and that we may hope to take a new and statesmanlike course in our financial system as well as in our foreign policy.

The Southern Leaders and the Constitutional Amendment.

From the Times.

The feature of the Constitutional amendment to which the South most emphatically objects, is that which excludes from office the prominent actors in the Rebellion. It is evident that neither the adjustment of representation on the basis of voters, instead of population, nor the general affirmation of the principle embodied in the Civil Rights act, would constitute an insuperable barrier to ratification. But the imposition of disabilities on the Southern leaders, civil and military, excites strong and apparently unyielding opposition.

The moving-spring to the opposition to this section of the amendment is creditable to the good faith and personal honor of the Southern people. They object to penalties to be paid by those whom their confidence lifted into positions of eminence and trust, and who by reason of their prominence are to be singled out for punishment. It is argued that whatever disabilities are to be imposed should in equity apply equally to the whole South, and that there would be dishonor and cowardice, with a smack of ingratitude, in any acquiescence in the punishment of a limited class. Hence, the people consider it their duty to stand by the political fortunes of their leaders, and in no degree to be responsible for their future exclusion from power. The idea of ratifying the amendment is, therefore, peculiarly repugnant, because implying their direct participation in the infliction of what to them appears harshness, if not injustice. Opposition of this nature is not easily overcome by rhetoric, or by appeals to selfish considerations. It originates in feeling; and where feeling sways the judgment, mere argument has but a sorry chance.

The attitude of the class directly affected by the provision has not, thus far, been such as to warrant an expectation of speedy change in the Southern mind. So far as we have observed, not a solitary man who figured conspicuously in the Rebellion has publicly advocated the ratification of the amendment. We know that in their ordinary intercourse not a few of them, after studying the manifestations of public opinion at the North, admit that unless the South concur in the amendment, restoration will be indefinitely postponed, and may, perhaps, be made contingent upon more unpalatable conditions. But not one has declared his readiness to submit to disabilities for the sake of restoration—not one has appealed to others similarly situated to endure the punishment that peace may be secured—not one has endeavored to mitigate the prejudice with which the provision is regarded, or to urge the necessity of averting great evils by patiently submitting to lesser ones.

Even those from whose general course a willingness to make sacrifices might have been inferred, are silent on the subject. General Forrest, who, since the termination of the war, has striven to redeem himself from its iniquities by counselling loyalty and moderation, and by setting an example of honest, earnest industry—even he is mute in reference to the amendment. The ex-Vice-President of the Confederacy, whose habitual moderation and disinterestedness have secured for him extended respect, has sent forth no sound or sign. All who have taken the trouble to make themselves heard belong to the Wade and Hampton type—proud, haughty men, who seem to think that the vanquished are privileged to dictate terms to the victors, and that the Rebel leaders should be promoted rather than punished because of their rebellion.

Now, may not the leaders be fairly asked to change their course, and to exercise their influence in behalf of the final settlement of the vexed question of restoration? To the Wade Hamptons any appeal of this kind would be of no avail. Their arrogance is not accessible to reason, and their theory of government is predicated upon their own superiority as a privileged class. The great body of the prominent men in the Southern States, we would gladly believe, cherish a more correct appreciation of their responsibility. To them may not an appeal be addressed somewhat in this strain? —"You have enjoyed the confidence of the Southern people, and have shared the honors and rewards which were at their disposal. The influence you possessed you used to promote the Rebellion. Your motives may have been good—your sense of duty imperious—your principles simply erroneous; but at any rate you brought upon the people the sufferings they have endured, and the embarrassments which now surround them. Grant, if you please, that, according to your views, this conduct was not criminal; at least, as results have proved, it was mistaken. Whether your hearts erred or not, certainly you led those who trusted you into disastrous error, one of the penalties of which they suffer in exclusion from the Union. By sacrificing your own pride and ambition, you may extricate them from their position, and contribute to the return of harmony and prosperity. Is it not your duty, then, to submit to the sacrifice? Does not the spirit of magnanimity dictate a voluntary surrender on your part of all claim to office, Federal or State, that the return of national unity may be thereby hastened? Are you not bound by an ordinary sense of generosity to repay the confidence of your friends by an unselfish consideration of their interests in preference to the gratification of your own pride?"

Such an appeal does not proceed on any chivalrous hypothesis. It does not imply the possession of superhuman virtues by the Rebel leaders. It simply presupposes their possession of common generosity, common justice, and, we may add, common sense. For, while we hold that, as a matter of duty, the promoters of and chief actors in the Rebellion owe to the Southern people the sacrifice we have suggested, we believe that, as a matter of prudence, they would find it to their advantage. Nothing would so quickly or so surely mitigate the feeling of the North towards them, and help to improve their own position, as this display of disinterestedness, coupled, as it no doubt would be, with the ratification of the amendment by the South and the restoration of cordial and constitutional relations between the sections. It is in their power by one graceful act to atone for the injuries inflicted upon their neighbors, and to prove that in seeking restoration they are not intent upon their own glory and aggrandizement.

If the Southern leaders will voluntarily assume the disabilities imposed by Congress, and so remove the great obstacle to the acceptance of the amendment by the South, the gloom which overhangs its future may be removed before the close of the coming session. Is there not enough Roman virtue left among them to prompt the adoption of this course of political and official abnegation? Have they not sufficient sagacity to discern the impression which the proceeding would produce upon the country, and its tendency to shorten the period during which the dreaded disabilities will be enforced?

Good Tidings from Ohio.

From the World.

The returns of the late election in Ohio have just come to hand, and make a gratifying exhibit for the conservatives. The total vote polled was 469,908, which is but 817 less than that cast at the Presidential election in 1864, including the 41,146 soldiers' votes given for Lincoln; these 469,908 votes were divided thus:—

Democratic	213,606
Republican	256,302
Republican majority	42,696

In 1864, Lincoln's majority over McClellan was 59,586, which, it will be seen, the Democrats have just reduced by the handsome figure of sixteen thousand eight hundred and ninety, which is equivalent to 28½ per cent. But this is not the whole story. By a comparison of the vote of each party this year with that of 1864, it is found that the Democrats have just polled a larger vote than they did two years ago, while that of the Republicans this year is smaller than it was at the Presidential election. Look at the figures:—

	Dem.	Rep.
1864	205,568	265,154
1866	213,606	256,302
Democratic gain in 1866	8,038
Republican loss in 1866	8,548

Still more important is the patent fact that nearly all of this Democratic gain must have come from the Republican ranks, for, by adding the loss of the one to the gain of the other, the sum is found to be 16,586, which varies but very little from the difference between the Republican majorities of 1866 and 1864. Hence it is plain that, while the increase in the Democratic vote may be, in some measure, due to the natural growth of the population, the great bulk of it was formed by converts from the Republican party. We beg to commend these figures to the observation of our radical contemporaries, not, however, without adding that a proportionate change in the vote of this State two weeks since, as compared with that in 1864, will make John T. Hoffman our next Governor. More than that, such a change, only greater, is now working. Mark the result.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

[For Additional City Intelligence see Fifth Page.]

FURTHER FROM THE GAS INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE.—The Committee held quite a long session last evening. There were three witnesses examined by Colonel Page, the Chairman. Mr. R. S. Garretson, Agent of the Cameron Coal Company, said he knew nothing of the Gas Works, as all he did was to furnish the coal as ordered. Mr. S. R. Brown, Chief Clerk of the Ninth Ward Works, said that consumers frequently defrauded the works by tampering with the metres, but when they were discovered they were charged with the defect. Mr. B. S Riley, the Cashier of the works, refused to be sworn, and handed in the following communication:—

OFFICE PHILADELPHIA GAS WORKS, PHILADELPHIA, October 24, 1866.—James Page, Chairman of Committee of Select Council on Gas Works—Dear Sir:—On Friday evening, June 26, 1866, in the Select Council Chamber, and in presence of your Committee, you, as Chairman of said Committee, made a verbal request of me to be present and appear before your Committee on the evening of July 5, stating that you desired to treat me as a gentleman, and if I promised to be present you would not subpœna me. I told you that I would come at the time stated. On the afternoon of that day, unexpectedly and to my surprise, a subpœna, signed by yourself and the Mayor, was served upon me by Thomas Mussey, Messenger of your Chamber, contrary to your promise to me, and several subpœnas have been served upon me since; and while I was present at several meetings of your Committee, and was not present at some others, on account of previous engagements, permit me to say that it was not in answer to your subpœnas, but in accordance with my promise to you, as I cannot and do not acknowledge the right of your Committee to subpœna me and put me under oath upon any subject whatsoever. I shall answer such questions as may be put to me consistent with the investigation your Committee are making, as I am able to do, to the best of my knowledge; and after such answers are made, if your Committee desire it, I will become qualified to the truthfulness of them before any alderman in the city.

Respectfully yours, BENJAMIN S. RILEY, Cashier of the Trustees of the Philadelphia Gas Works.

Mr William McManus, a laborer, appointed in the Gas Works at Point Breeze, in 1855, afterwards for several years boss at the weigh-scales, and an employe at the works until 1865, was then lengthily questioned. He described the wire-working of that department. The Engineer, Mr. Roberts, was absent on military service one year at one time, and ninety days at another. A number of other men who left the works in the same way were put upon half wages.

When the war broke out, Mr. McManus said, many skilled hands left. Their places were supplied by such laborers as could be secured, when good hands were hard to obtain. Thus the Works lost the advantage of its experienced men. Mr. McCready, one of the foremen then employed, was intoxicated during his service. He came drunk to the Works. He sent out and brought liquor in to the men, who lost discipline and neglected their business. At times McCready left his post, and placed witness in charge of the gang. They would not obey him, and the Works suffered. They wasted gas by allowing pipes to leak, and taking off jets, and letting the gas escape. At last McCready was discharged, and the men mutinied as to the right of the discharge. There were three benches of retorts not fired. McCready told his men "not to shovel in coke, but let the public see what kind of a man Hon. Tom. Stewart was." In the morning, the retorts were black and chilled. On one occasion McCready went away, and one of the large pipes burst. The witness sent for the foreman, who could not be found. In the morning he came back inebriated, and didn't know how to mend it; the day foreman, Mr. Peoples, mended it.

Mr. McManus also testified that surplus hands were employed on McCready's gang. Sometimes there were five, sometimes six, and sometimes eleven. These men would come at five in the afternoon, and stay till ten, and then go home. In the morning they came and worked as day hands, and he supposed they were paid double wages as night helpers, and yard men in the day time. Sometimes these extra hands slept about the place, and when McCready was drunk the witness made him a bed and put him in it.

At one time, the witness testified, he was away twelve days; McCready returned full time, and the witness paid McCready the pay for the lost days, as he said he and another man worked for him. He heard other men speak of similar cases, where they were paid for not working.

The Committee then adjourned until Friday evening.

AIDING PRISONERS TO ESCAPE.—At the Central Station, yesterday afternoon, James Newman, a young, genteelly dressed man, had a hearing on the charge of aiding the escape of the prisoners Lechler, Donnelly, and Ellison, on Friday last, who cut their way through the bottom of the prison van.

Turnkey Smith, at the Central Station, testified that he saw the defendant at the door of cell No. 3, in which the prisoners were confined; he only remained a few minutes.

Margaret Keller, a young woman, residing in Carter street, above Second, testified that she knows the defendant as Harry Carter, and that, on Friday last, she was at the Central Station, and saw him hand a saw into the cell No. 3, and that Lechler took it.

Defendant admitted that he did hand something into the cell, which Lechler's landlady had given to him, but he denied that it was a saw. It was wrapped in paper, and the witness could not have seen what it was.

Detective Lamon testified that he saw Newman at the cell window where the prisoners were, and upon asking him what he was doing, the reply was that one of the prisoners had given him a note; not one of the three who escaped. The note was examined and found to be as stated. The officer also testified that the prisoners made their escape by cutting a hole with a saw through the bottom of the van.

Newman was held in $2500 bail to appear at Court.

THE THIEVES OF TIME.—Joseph Carty, John D. Heston, and George Steele, had a hearing yesterday afternoon, before Alderman Beitler, for being concerned in the stealing of a gold watch.

Edwin Haas, jeweller, at No. 420 North Eighth street, testified that on Saturday evening last two men came up to his window, one of whom had a necktie of a similar kind to one worn by Steele; that a few minutes after, Heston entered the store and asked him the price of a gold watch which he pointed out. He was told the price, and then he asked to see it, and it was handed to him. After asking a few questions about it, Heston threw a quantity of snuff in the eyes of the jeweller, and then ran off with the watch. A watch was shown to Mr. Haas, which he identified, and Allred Likens, in the pawnbroking establishment of No. 1123 Poplar street, testified that Carty pawned it on Saturday night last, receiving twenty-five dollars on it. Defendants were held in $1500 bail to answer.

DEFRAUDING THE REVENUE.—Before United States Commissioner Sergeant, yesterday, Erasmus J. Berger had a hearing on the charge of conducting the business of distiller without a license.

Daniel B. George, a revenue officer of the Fifth District, testified that he knew the defendant, and that his place is at Holmesburg, in the Twenty-third Ward; that he visited the distillery on the 12th of October, and made a seizure of a copper boiler, a still, thirteen hogsheads of mash, one hogshead of molasses, and other things. The still was in the back part of the house, under a sleeping-room. Defendant was there when the seizure was made. The water in the boiler was hot, and the coal also. The articles seized were left on the premises, and were afterwards clandestinely removed. Defendant had no license. He was held in $1000 bail to answer.

ANNUAL SESSION OF THE GRAND DIVISION OF SONS OF TEMPERANCE.—The annual session of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance was commenced yesterday morning at Washington Hall, corner of Eighth and Spring Garden streets. A large number of delegates were present.

The minutes of the last session were read, and after discussion were approved. During the day several items of importance connected with the Order were under consideration. The members at a late hour in the day went into an election for officers to serve for the ensuing year, when the following persons were elected:—

G. W. P.—T. M. Coleman of No. 11.
G. W. A.—Jacob Wentz, of No. 121.
G. Scribe—John C. Maguigan, of No. 21.
G. Treasurer—Abram Brown, of No. 21.
G. Chaplain—Rev. Kendall Brooks, of No. 70.
G. Conductor—M. W. Bruce, of No. 49.
G Sentinel—Henry Stewart, of No. 5.

The business of the day was brought to a close about 10 o'clock in the evening.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF REVISION.—The Board for Revising the Tax Duplicates for 1867 are now engaged in examining the books as returned by the Assessors, and listening to the owners of property who have appeals to make as to the correctness of the value placed upon their premises, changing the names of owners, and making divisions of property. All divisions made now will be entered upon the duplicates, and thus save the parties the necessity of getting certificates of division. The Board will hear parties from the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Wards to-day. The Board have also notified all corporators of burial grounds to appear and show the special acts of the Legislature under which they claim exemption from taxation. Burial grounds belonging to churches are exempted under a general law.

A NEAT SWINDLE.—A few nights ago a man walked into the millinery store of Mrs. Gillespie, No. 132 S. Eleventh street, and selected a French style of hat valued at thirty dollars, and stated that if it suited his wife when sent home he would purchase it for her. The hat being put up, a girl belonging to the store was sent with him to his supposed home, No. 225 S. Ninth street. When they reached the house he rang the bell and was admitted, and walked into the parlor, followed by the girl. He then directed her to wait for his return, and went out of the room, taking the hat. It was supposed he had gone into the back part of the house, instead of which he passed out of the front door. He was an entire stranger to the inmates, and had been admitted by one of the servants, who was ignorant of his purpose.

RECEPTION TO OUR FIREMEN.—The United States Fire Company arrived in Reading from Lancaster at six o'clock last evening. They were received by the fire department with bands of music, and escorted through several streets to their quarters. Whilst there they are the guests of the Junior Steam Engine Company. The turn-out was large, and presented a very fine appearance. The guests will visit the Fair during the day, and a gay time is expected among the "boys" generally.

THE RECEIPTS FROM TAXES.—The receipts from taxes at present amount to about $4000 daily. At this rate, a large number of taxpayers will find themselves advertised as delinquents at the end of the year. At present two per cent. is added to all unpaid bills for the present year, and if not settled on or before the 1st of December, three per cent. will be added.

BARN BURNED.—Yesterday afternoon, the barn of Martin Ulrick, on Nicetown lane, was set on fire by sparks from a locomotive on the Reading Railroad, and, with its contents of hay and grain, was totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at $3000, no part of which is covered by insurance.

The Skunk.

Shrink not in disgust, kind reader, from the caption of this article, for the subject of these remarks is beginning to occupy a prominent position in the export as well as internal trade of this country. The skunk has been, until within a few years past, "severely let alone," its fur being considered of so coarse a texture, and its skin of little or no value; and besides this, contact with it is sure contamination. Large shipments have recently been made to Russia, where these skins are used for the caps of grenadiers, while many are manufactured into muffs in this country.

The skunk skin traffic now amounts to quite a handsome sumper year—one dealer reporting, in the usual purchasing season, the spring of the year, when the fur is the most valuable, being the winter covering of the animal, a gathering of twenty-five hundred skins at fifty cents each. But this article does not sell in this country as a skunk skin, by no manner of means—"a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." It is dyed and metamorphosed, and changed in character and appearance, and is blazoned forth by the skilful fur men under some taking title, such as the "Mountain Otter," the "Prairie Badger," the "Colorado Catamount," or the "Australian Wolf." Chemistry has altogether transformed the base skunk into something rich and rare, needing only the christening, and fashion soon settles that. While upon the subject, we may as well dispose of a disputed question as to the mode of warfare which this much abused but really very respectable animal adopts; although in "very bad odor," in the animal world, he only desires to be let alone. The skunk is not a fighting man he is quite retiring in his habits, and his sensitiveness upon the matter of being disturbed in his quiet nightly peregrinations, generally in the poultry yards, induces him to make use of such agents of offense and defense as nature has given him, and his method of meeting his worst enemy, the dog, is quite novel. He rarely attempts to run, but faces his foe boldly, and while looking him in the eye, is quietly saturating his bushy tail with the liquid he carries for that purpose; as soon as he thinks he has a sufficient quantity on his brush, he brings it with a rapid sweep over his back, throwing a perfumed spray full twenty feet, like a fine rain shower. No quadruped or biped can stand that shower. Human nature and animal nature succumbs, and the skunk is left victor of the field. The skunk skin trade is increasing, and the disguise it undergoes in coloring and finishing, renders it impossible to recognize any of its original features; not the slightest perceptible odor is discovered when it presents itself to the votaries of fashion, in the shape of muff, or cape, or gloves, and all this change is due to the application of chemistry.—Hide and Leather Interest.

—Krupp's great steel-works at Essex, England, cover 400 acres of ground, consume 750 tons of coal daily, use the steam of 120 boilers, burn 7000 flames of gas, and give employment to above 8000 men and boys, whose wages amount to nearly £400,000 a year. The establishment last year turned out upwards of 50,000 tons of cast steel, one-third of which was made into guns, the rest into bars, shafts for engines, axles, railway bars, tires of wheels, plates for boilers and ships.

—At Nismes, France, last month, a bull-fighter was killed in the arena by a furious bull. Three tame beasts had been killed, and the brutal lookers-on cried "bravo," but the fourth turned to bay. The man, instead of watching the bull's movements, and holding his hoop on one side so as to avoid the rush, held it in both hands exactly before his breast, and the bull, after running his horns through the paper, transfixed him.

THE PICTORIAL BOOK OF ANECDOTES AND INCIDENTS OF THE REBELLION: Heroic, Patriotic, Romantic, Humorous and Tragical. There is a certain portion of the war that will never go into the regular histories, and will not get embodied in romance and poetry which is a very real part of it, and will if preserved, convey to succeeding generations a better idea of the spirit of the conflict than many dry reports of certain narratives of events, and this part may be termed the gossip, the fun, the pathos, of the war.
This illustrates the character of the leaders, the humor of the soldiers, the devotion of women, the bravery of men, the pluck of our heroes, the romance and hardships of the service. From the beginning of the war the author has been engaged in collecting all the anecdotes connected with or illustrative of it, and has grouped and classified them under appropriate heads, and in a very attractive form.
The volume is profusely illustrated with over 300 engravings by the first artists, which are really beautiful; worthy of examination as specimens of the art. Many of them are set into the body of the text, after the popular style of Lossing's Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution. The book's contents include reminiscences of camp, picket, spy, scout, bivouac, siege, and battle-field adventures; thrilling feats of bravery, wit, drollery, comical and ludicrous adventures, etc., etc.
Amusement as well as instruction may be found in every page, as graphic detail, brilliant wit, and authentic history are skilfully interwoven in this work of literary art.
This work sells itself. The people are tired of dry details and partisan works, and want something humorous, romantic and startling. Our agents are making from $100 to $200 per month, clear of all expenses. Send for circulars giving full particulars, and see our terms and proof of the above assertion.

Secretary Browning's Assault Upon Popular Government.

THE manifesto of Secretary Browning, which we published yesterday, contains the most studied attack upon the Legislative branch of the Government that the present discussion of public affairs has called forth. He says:—

"The Legislative is much the strongest of the departments, and the most aggressive, because its members are responsible to no power but the will of the dominant party for acts of usurpation. It is the only department from the encroachments of which any serious danger to our institutions is to be apprehended. It has heretofore exercised more influence than is compatible with safety and entire freedom over both the Executive and the Judiciary. It has sometimes impressed a pernicious influence upon judicial action, and where it has failed to accomplish that in advance of judgments has subsequently overruled and annulled them. And without at all impugning the motives of legislators, I may venture to say that if the present Congress were not restrained by positive and emphatic provisions of the Constitution, they would greatly abridge, if they did not altogether annihilate, the power of appointment to and removal from office now confided to the Executive, and the salutary restraint which he holds over legislation through the veto power."

It is one of the singular features of the day that, at the very time when the popular will is being most openly and flagrantly defied by the Admistration, when the abuse of public patronage is the most corrupt that it has ever been since the foundation of the Government, and when the Executive is claiming not only to execute, but also to make the laws—it is a singular feature, we say, that all this is done under the plea that the people are in danger from their own Representatives, and that the popular branch of the Government is hostile to "our institutions!" The tone of the extract which we have above quoted from Secretary Browning's article is an insult to popular intelligence. It asks the American people to believe that they are in danger from themselves, and that the popular branch of the Government, fresh from the people, the lower House, elected every two years by a direct vote, is "aggressive," given to "encroachments," "dangerous to our institutions," etc. This is mere dust to blind the eyes. How can Congress "encroach" when it is the supreme law-making power of the nation? Who is it to encroach upon? Not the President, for he has no business to do anything but to execute the laws that Congress may pass. Not the Judiciary, for it has merely to decide questions which arise under the laws. It is quite true that the Legislative is "much the strongest of the departments," and it ought to be, for it is the direct agent of the people, through whom they express their will. Indeed, it is the only final and supreme department in the Government, for it is solemnly invested by the Constitution with the only final and supreme authority in the Government. Every officer in the United States, from the highest to the lowest, and in every department, is amenable to Congress for any failure in duty or for any personal or official misdemeanor whatevear.

What would Mr. Browning and his friends have? Would they have the people give up this great law-making function, and confer it upon one man? Would they have the final authority of the Government located somewhere else than in the hands of the people's representatives?

Mr. Browning says the Legislative department has already "exercised more influence than is compatible with safety and entire freedom over both the Executive and the Judiciary." We deny the assertion, and defy him to show a single instance. On the contrary, the history of the country shows exactly the opposite. It is the Executive branch of the Government that constantly tends to aggression and usurpation. It is the Executive who, through a thousand avenues of official influence, attempts to controls the legislative policy of the country. Indeed, so far has this gone, that we now find an attempt made by the Executive to thrust his "policy" upon the country, in defiance of the will of the people, as expressed through their representatives. Nor is this the first time, unfortunately, that we have beheld such a spectacle. In 1858 Mr. Buchanan made precisely a similar effort. He had concocted a certain "policy" in regard to the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution. Instead of confining himself to his legitimate duties of executing the laws, he took it upon him to force Congress into an adoption of his "policy." Then, as now, we saw the power of Federal offices and patronage prostituted in an attempt to override the will of the people. But Congress stood firm, and saved the liberties of the people.

We do not wonder that Mr. Browning and his sort of politicians dislike the people, and would be very glad to limit their power in the Government. The people are opposed to them and their plans. The people have decided against them on a simple and square appeal. They don't like the decision, and so they have fallen to declaiming against the popular branch of the Government. But the people are not disposed to give up the right of making their own laws. Despite Mr. Browning's false logic and false history, they will continue to stand by that great bulwark of popular liberty, the Congress of the United States.

American Freedmen's Union Commission.

A MEETING of the American Freedmen's Union Commission was held last night at the Coopers' Institute, New York, at which addresses were made by Henry Ward Beecher, Major-General Howard, Thomas J. Durant, Esq., and others. An interesting letter from Chief Justice Chase, the newly elected President of the Society, was read, containing, among other things, the following:—

"I certainly should not accept this post, which adds serious duties and responsibilities to those with which I am charged, did I not feel a profound conviction of the importance of promoting in every right and practicable way the moral, religious, and educational improvement of our emancipated countrymen; and this, not by officious and intrusive interference with matters which belong more immediately to themselves and to the people among whom they live, but by cordial and active co operation with patriotic and Christian men and women of the Southern States.

"I accept it, because I understand the Commission to have undertaken just such a work in just such a way as I have described, and because I am sure that no work can more efficiently promote the permanent welfare of those States and of the whole country. The peace and prosperity of all can in no way be so certainly and so thoroughly secured as by complete recognition of rights and cordial interchange of benefits. It is the part of patriotism, South and North, to remove, as speedily as possible, every cause and every sentiment of distrust and alienation."

The Society has had, during the past year, under its charge 301 schools, 760 teachers, and 50,000 pupils. This is one of the most important instrumentalities of the times for educating the masses of the South, and should receive the hearty support of every Christian and patriot.

Our Next State Treasurer.

THROUGHOUT all the Republican party there seems to be but one opinion in regard to the choice of a State Treasurer for 1867, and that is in favor of the re-election of the present incumbent, the Hon. William H. Kemble. That gentleman, after an experience of several years in the position, has demonstrated his admirable fitness for the responsible post, and his undoubted financial ability, as well as sterling honesty. We have always advocated the retention of any capable and honorable public servant, if his sentiments are in accordance with those of the dominant party. Rotation in office is an error of the worst kind, and should always be avoided, unless some other opposition than merely possession be brought against the incumbent.

We, therefore, are most emphatically in favor of Mr. Kemble's re-election. The finances of the State were never so well managed as they have been during his term, and it is a duty which the party owes to the Commonwealth to retain in his position one so well qualified to hold the financial portfolio. He is an earnest Republican, radical to the core, and correct in all his principles; and is just the man for the place, and in the place he will be retained.

THE BATEMAN CONCERTS.

No. III.

With an Essay.

When man was created, his person beautified, and his mind endowed, and placed in the midst of a material creation whose yet hidden properties he was to discover and improve into sources of most exquisite delights—those personal beauties, those mental endowments, and those material properties had all one purpose and one end—the service of God and the happiness of man, for both were then but one, and could not be disunited. When these ends parted, and man chose himself a happiness independent of his Creator, he took to his own share those splendid gifts, these treasured materials of delight, these stores of intellect—another's workmanship—and, regardless altogether of the purpose of their creation, devoted them to his own pleasure, honor, or advantage; or what, in his corruption, he considered such! God let it be. With those powers that He had created for His glory and service, He let His creatures make themselves a happiness to which He was no party, until, in the revel of possession, they found they could do without the Giver.

Music, sweet music, was one of the gifts of God. Man did not communicate to the extended wire its vibrations, give to the surrounding air its undulatory motion, organize the thoughts to exact responsiveness, or the brain to such acute sensibility of what the ear conveys.

We speak the foregoing as a prelude to the plain substantiality, that what is at the present day termed music is, to too great an extent, that smacking of the indifferent or ludicrous, whilst the artistic art is placed upon the back shelf, so far as any demonstrative exhibition of applause is to be taken as an evidence of appreciation. We should feel regret to be obliged to point too clearly to the music-loving people of Philadelphia in this particular, and do not feel especially disposed to do so; but it is a fact beyond contradiction, that the Bateman Concerts being given this week at Musical Fund Hall, are valuable, rare, and important personifications and exhibitions of vocal talent. To go there is a treat to a connoisseur, much less an amateur, and notwithstanding the vast number of "Professors of Music," "Musicians," "Sight Singers," etc. etc. (Vide proof pages of "McElroy's Directory for 1867"), in this city, the attendance, in all candor, is not great. We mean it is not comparatively great for the talent and execution which is there presented. Last night, which was the third performance, there was a tolerably large and appreciative audience. But it was not commensurate with the programme presented. M'me Parepa, with the Signori Brignoli, Fortuna, and Ferranti, and the addition of S. D. Mills and Carl Rosa, piano and violin soloists, with Mr. J. L. Hatton as general accompanyist, should be sufficient to bring forward hosts of musicians, "good men and true." "Why?" asks the general reader. Because, we answer, they have musical fame, renown, and deserve commendation; they love their profession, and practise it well; but, as the old Latin proverb has it, "Amare et sapere vix deo conceditur" ("To love and be wise is scarcely granted to the highest"), musical fame is very unstable.

A lover of music feels something painful in the reflection that the art is so liable to change. A great poet is sure of immortality, and of the best kind—that which arises out of the unceasing admiration of his works. The poems of Homer and Virgil have survived for ages the languages in which they were written—languages that are dead, but embalmed and preserved for the sake of the treasures of the genius which belong to them. Even the painter enjoys to a great extent a similar immortality. Michael Angelo, Raphael, and others are not mere barren names. Their works live and breathe before us, inspiring a love and veneration for their authors; and so religiously are these divine productions preserved, that it is impossible to assign a limit to their duration.

How different is the case with the musician! His art is as ancient as poetry or painting, yet the fame of the musician is evanescent and perishable. Where, to-day, is Palestrina, who, to the most sublime conceptions, united powers of harmonical combination of great and lasting excellence? His works may have been preserved in the Catholic Church, it is true; but does his memory live loftily among the people? It does not. His works are almost only recognized nominally; and in the same proportion, may not the exquisite singing of a Parepa and Brignoli, the fine performances of Mills and Rosa (Quis custodiet ipsos custodes?), and the humors of Ferranti and Fortuna, pass away comparatively unnoticed?

It has not been the intention of THE EVENING TELEGRAPH to devote much space to, or indeed to speak at all concerning, ordinary musical matters. We will, however, continue to give a full and elaborate account of the proceedings and doings of artists of distinction, such as the troupe this week performing at Musical Fund Hall, feeling certain that the column will prove as acceptable and readable to the general reader, as it will be truthful and characteristically music-disseminating in our midst. The press is an engine by which large numbers are at once addressed and acted on, but its object ought not to be to flatter the prejudices or favor the inclinations of the multitude. It should be the organ of a select world, for in almost everthing it is the few who give the impulse to the many. The press (and we speak here of it as connected with the fine arts) is called to exercise a moral influence on those who are continually arising to people this land of imagination and beauty. To speak specially of the performance of last evening, it was the best yet given by the Bateman troupe.

M'me Parepa was in exquisite voice, and introduced herself by a German arietta from Weber—"Und ob die wolke." She sang it with appropriate and becoming accent, and was at its conclusion warmly applauded. Von Weber was a queer genius, and hard to understand, ergo, his works are difficult of translation, i. e., to the masses of the people—not M'me Parepa.

The "Il Bacio" of Ardita we were not especially captivated with, some slight defect being observable in the accompaniment. This did not disconcert the singer, and therefore was not the cause of any untowardness. Her voice was certainly not as direct in character as in her other gems, and for this cause alone deponent speaketh. The allegation that the aria is too stereotyped, and therefore indigestible, is a subterfuge, and we decline subscribing our endorsement to it.

Signor Ferranti continues to grow in popular favor, and Signor Fortuna is also a great favorite. Rosa on the violin and Mills on the piano are respectively meritorious, and it may be a long time before we have such another company amongst us for the purposes of a miscellaneous concert. Let us hope for a continuance of excellence like that we have thus far enjoyed.

To-night a programme of rare excellence is presented. M'me Parepa will sing a recitative and aria from the grand oratorio of Maccabeus, by Handel, and several other gems. Signor Brignoli will give the serenade "Com'e gentil," by Donizetti; also a duo from L'Elisire d'Amore, entitled "Voglio d'or," a fine selection, whilst those of the other performers will be equally so. The last concert will be given to-morrow night.

AMUSEMENTS.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC—ITALIAN OPERA.—To-night Donizetti's Elisire d'Amore; debut of Signorina Antonietta Ronconi; first and only appearance of Giorgio Ronconi as "Dr. Dulcomara."

To-morrow night, only representation of Ernani. On Saturday afternoon grand matinee. Last representation of Crispino e la Comare.

THE BATEMAN CONCERTS.—This evening a sparkling new bill is offered, with Parepa, Brignoli, Ferranti, Fortuna, Carl Rosa, and Mills in choice operatic selections. The great Parepa will sing in English and Italian this evening. She gives her specialty this evening, "From Mighty Kings," aria and recitation, from Handel's celebrated oratorio Judah Maccabæus, which she has rendered with eminent success in all of the great cities of Europe and America.

NEW CHESNUT STREET THEATRE.—Boucicault's powerful play, Jane Pride, will be produced at this establishment this evening for the first time in this city. This beautiful drama will be put upon the stage in magnificent style, with new and superb scenery, properties, and appointments. The cast will embrace all the company favorites, including Miss Josie Orton, Messrs. G. H. Clarke, J. W. Jennings, F. F. Mackay, M. Woolf, Walter Lennox, Miss Cooper, Mrs. H. A. Perry, and others.

On Saturday afternoon, a grand family matinee will be given, when The Fast Family will be presented.

On next Wednesday evening, Mr. Joseph Jefferson will make his first appearance as "Rip Van Winkle."

CITY MUSEUM THEATRE.—This newly-fitted-up temple of Thespis will open its doors to the public on next Saturday evening. Colonel John K. Murphy is the lessee; Mr. Robert Jones (a Boston veteran), stage manager; and Mr. John C. McCormack business agent. The company will be new to Philadelphia, but contains several artists of note. Mr. A. Scherzer will act as chef d'orchestre. The initial star is Miss Annie Howe, an English actress, who has been very successful in London and elsewhere. On Saturday evening she appears in a play written expressly for her, called The Betting Boy's Career. The concluding piece is Squigg's Mishaps.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—Mr Edwin Booth this evening, in his great role of "Ruy Blas," supported by Mr J. B. Roberts and Mr. Barton Hill. All that Glitters is not Gold will also be given, with Miss Susan Denin, Mr. Barton Hill, and Mr. J. B. Roberts in the cast.

ARCH STREET THEATRE.—The Fast Family this evening, with Mrs. John Drew and the whole stock company in the cast.

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE.—Miss Kate Fisher is playing the beautiful Eastern romance, Mazeppa, to fine audiences. El Nino Eddie appears each evening.

CARNCROSS & DIXEY announce a splendid variety bill for to-night. Music, mirth, dancing, etc., in partes equi.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

VISIT OF PHILADELPHIA OFFICIALS TO THE BALTIMORE SCHOOLS.—A deputation of gentlemen from Philadelphia, consisting of certain members of its City Councils, and officers connected with the Public Schools of this city, are on a visit to Baltimore, and were a day or two the guests of a Committee of its City Council and the prominent officers from its Public Schools. The Committee consists of Edward Shippen, Esq., President of the Board of Control, and twelve members of the Board, and of the City Councils.

With the view of obtaining the best information with respect to the latest improvements in the construction of buildings for the use of schools, as a guide to the expenditure of the large appropriation, consisting of one million dollars, which our school authorities have been authorized to devote to the erection of new school buildings, the committee above named have been authorized to visit and examine the school buildings of the different Atlantic cities.

The Superintendent of Public Schools of Baltimore, Rev. J. N. McJilton, and a committee of the Commissioners of Public Schools, accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Van Bokkelen, Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Maryland, welcomed them to the city, and placed their services at the disposal of their visitors. They suggested that while examining the school building their visitors might as well examine the working of the school system.

Without giving any notice of their movements, the visitors were taken in carriages first to the Eastern Female High School, of which Professor N. H. Thayer is principal. Though taken by surprise, the pupils acquitted themselves very handsomely in reading, recitations, and music. The exercises in elocution were highly commended.

Mr. Shippen addressed the pupils and the Baltimore school authorities. He said that the city of Philadelphia had 80,000 pupils in its public schools, and 1400 teachers. Baltimore had 20,000 pupils and a proportionate number of teachers. He had been struck with the cheerfulness of manner exhibited by the pupils before him, indicating that attendance upon school was not a task, but a pleasure. In music they were far ahead of Philadelphia. He gave a humorous history of schools in Philadelphia for the last hundred years, and stated, in contrast to their former insignificant character, that within the last eighteen months commissioners had been sent from nearly every country in Europe to examine and report upon the condition of public schools in the chief cities of the United States.

The visitors were next taken to Grammar School No. 13, where the exercises in reading and singing afforded them much pleasure. The Western Female High School, of which Professor D. A. Hollingshead is principal, was next visited. The exercises in music and elocution sustained the high reputation of the school in those branches, and elicited the warmest praises from the visitors. Several interesting addresses were here made.

Rev. Mr. Van Bokkelen, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, commended the action of the Philadelphia school authorities. The one million dollars they have in hand, judiciously expended in the erection of improved school buildings, will do more to make their schools efficient than can be readily imagined. He had just returned from a visit to the counties of the Western Shore, in his capacity as State Superintendent, and he was gratified to find that the people of that section were all putting their school-houses in good order, which is the first step to successful school education. He told them everywhere that the State of Maryland had pledged the entire property of the State to every child of the State to secure to him a good education. The city of Baltimore sends out $100,000 per year to the distant counties of the State in aid of its public schools.

After leaving the school the visitors dined at Barnum's Hotel, as the guests of the city. Invitations were extended them to visit the Maryland Institute, which were accepted. Yesterday, the PhiladelphiaCommittee visited the Male Central High School, now called the "Baltimore City College," and other schools.

A PRETTY INVENTION.—To London and back, without a change of linen. A composition Water Proof Shirt Front has been invented, to be worn with colored wool shirts. When in use it has the appearance of freshly prepared linen, and when soiled it may be restored to its original purity in a few minutes with a wet towel or sponge. It also acts as a shield to the breast, keeping out both cold and dampness. With this useful invention one may, when hurried, dress in a few minutes, for a journey or a wedding; and the labor of washing and ironing white shirts is dispensed with. They may be obtained at our furnishing stores, at the low price of twenty-five cents. McCurdy, No. 44 South Third street, is the manufacturer.

AN ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—About half-past 2 o'clock this morning, Mr. Franz, living at No. 745 S. Tenth street, hearing a noise in the upper part of the house, went up stairs, and met a negro who had his feet tied up in pieces of blanket, for the purpose of muffling his steps. Mr. Franz at once gave the alarm, and Officer Weston appearing on the scene, the negro was taken into custody. He gave the name of George W. Coleman, and is reputed to be the leader of a gang of negroes who infest the neighborhood of Tenth and Fitzwater streets. He had a hearing before Alderman Tittermary, who committed him to answer.

THE LATE ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE—Dr. Coles, of Baltimore, who jumped overboard at the foot of Market street wharf, it appears, intended to commit suicide. Just before he jumped from the stern of the Camden he turned around in the most cool and collected manner, and said, "Good-by, ladies," and then giving a leap, sank immediately. On rising, two of the deck hands instantly jumped into the river, and brought him safely to the shore. He left his handkerchief tied to his cane for identification in case he was drowned. Captain Murray did everything in his power to save him when he first jumped overboard, and, happily, he was saved.

A MIXED CASE.—Rather a curious case was brought before Alderman Johnson yesterday afternoon. Some ten days or so ago a countryman was coming into town at a very early hour, when he was attacked by a lot of men, near Dick's nursery. They assaulted him and tore his coat, and, he asserts, tried to rob him. They were frightened off, however, before they succeeded in their attempt, and managed to escape. A warrant was issued against them, and yesterday, on the information given by some young women, John Pogen and John Houisten were arrested as being the guilty parties concerned in the attack. After the hearing before Alderman Johnson, they were held to answer.

A DESPERATE INDIVIDUAL.—An American citizen of Air can descent was arrested this morning for committing an assault and battery upon a woman at Seventh and Lombard streets. It seems he went to her house, and before he left gave her a castigation, and then bundling up her clothes, he left with his plunder. Officer Young seeing him with a bundle at such an early hour, gave chase, and on the negro's being unable to give a satisfactory account of how he came into possession of the clothing, he took him into custody. The prisoner had a hearing before Alderman Swift, who held him $1000 bail to answer at Court.

LARCENY OF LEAD PIPE.—Francis Uber was detected in a bad business yesterday. Being in needy circumstances and in urgent necessity of raising some of the "wherewithal," he abstracted a quantity of lead pipe belonging to the North Pennsylvania Railroad Company, at Berks and America streets. He was accordingly arrested by one of the vigilant watchers of the public peace and placed in durance vile. He was introduced to Alderman Clouds, and that gentleman, not being satisfied with Frank's story, held him in $500 to answer.

MORE THAN HE BARGAINED FOR.—Jesse Dubois, who is of the colored persuasion, got himself into a peck of trouble by his greediness, yesterday afternoon. It appears that Jesse is very fond of a good cigar, and his finances are not ample enough to enable him to get all he wants. He went into a store at No. 1227 Vine street, and made a purchase of a few cigars, and, when leaving, made a grab at some that he had not paid for. He was caught at the neat little dodge, however, and was arrested. He had a hearing before Alderman Boswell, who held him in $800 to answer at Court.

A FALSE PRETENDER.—Edward Coyle was arrested yesterday evening, whilst sailing under false colors, at Fourth and Brown streets. It appears that Edward represented himself as an inspector of the Board of Health, to examine different premises for sanitary measures. As he acted in a very suspicious manner, and seemed more intent on examining the valuables than in looking for nuisances, information was given to the police authorities, and he was arrested. He was taken before Alderman Toland, who committed him in default of $600 bail to answer the charge of misdemeanor.

LIGHT-FINGERED.—Ann Jones, whilst travelling in the neighborhood of Tenth and Arch streets, had her attention drawn to an elegant piece of cloth in front of a tailor's establishment. She made love to it immediately, and eloped with it. The enraged tailor pursued her, however, and had her captured by the guardians of the public peace. The piece of cloth was valued at about $40. Alderman Hibberd held Ann in $600 bail to answer.

A BRACE OF CATTLE THIEVES.—Charles Hofnagle was arrested by the Fifteenth Ward police, on the charge of stealing a horse. He was also concerned in the theft of a cow from a farmer in Montgomery county, in connection with a man named Alfred Taylor. Taylor was arrested on Ridge Avenue, above York street. They had a hearing before Alderman Haines, and were both held for a further hearing this afternoon.

OIL PAINTINGS.—B. Scott, Jr., will inaugurate his first sale of fine Oil Paintings, Crystal Medallions, etc., this evening, at the gallery, No. 1020 Chesnut street, at 7½ o'clock. Among the collection are several very fine specimens from the studios of some of our most talented modern artists. Connoisseurs would do well to attend, as every painting will be sold without reserve.

SHEFFIELD PLATED GOODS.—We would call special attention to the large sale of Sheffield goods, which takes place at Scott's Art Gallery, No. 1020 Chesnut street, to-morrow (Friday) morning at 11 o'clock. This is the only opportunity offered to purchase this desirable manufacture of goods, and would advise all to attend the sale.

A VALUABLE ARTICLE.—The "French Dressing," advertised in another column, supplies a much needed desideratum. By its use ladies' shoes that have become red and rough by wear, are restored to their original color, lustre, and softness. The preparation will not soil the skirts.

A FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.—A man by the name of Michael Christy was arrested at Front and Greenwich streets, on a warrant as a fugitive from justice from New Jersey. He had a hearing before Alderman Tittermary, who remanded him to the authorities of New Jersey.

STEALING GEESE.—There was quite a capture made by a police officer at an early hour this morning. Officer Myers, while walking his lonely beat, at Front and York streets, espied three men ahead. Each of these men had an unfortunate goose under his arm. Without stopping to count noses, Officer Myers made a gallant charge upon the thieves, and nocking two of them, marched them off in triumph to the Station House. As he left the scene of the capture, he cast one sorrowful glance at the spoils of war he was compelled to leave behind him. The third man escaped, Officer Myers only having one pair of hands, which were fully occupied with his captures. The two prisoners, Ferdinand Bandsey and John Hempson, were held in $400 each by Alderman Cloud to answer at court.

A SAD CASE OF BEREAVEMENT.—Some time ago we noticed the death of Mr. Thomas S. Hemphill, whose father, Mr. Thomas J. Hemphill, has been for a long time the business manager of the Walnut Street Theatre. Mr. Hemphill died in San Francisco on the 27th of August last. He was well known as an active and talented business man, and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn his loss. Yesterday his sister, Miss Sarah A. Hemphill, in the eighteenth year of her age, died at the residence of her parents in this city. It is a very sad bereavement, and there are many who will mourn her loss, as an ornament to society. Mr. Hemphill has indeed been sadly afflicted.

A RECONSTRUCTED REBEL.—Charles Donahue was arrested in Morris' restaurant, at Ninth and Vine streets, last evening, whilst in a grand state of excitement. It seems that, under the inspiration of bad liquor, he had drawn a loaded revolver and flourished it in a savage manner, threatening to kill somebody. Donahue is a native of Nashville, Tenn., and for some time during the war was in the Rebel army. When arrested he had some $700 or $800 in greenbacks on his person. He had a hearing before Alderman Jones, and was held in $800 to answer the charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons.

CONNUBIAL FELICITY.—William Nott is not remarkable for good nature, and not unfrequently comes into notice for not behaving himself when under the pressure of old rye. He lives in the neighborhood of Twenty-second and Coates street, in Hare street, and sometimes makes that locality melodious. About yesterday noon he indulged in the playful amusement of beating the wife of his bosom, as he has frequently been in the habit of doing before. He was arrested, however, and was escorted to Alderman Hutchinson's office. That gentleman, after hearing the tale of his connubial infelicity, committed him in default of $500 bail.

A BRUTE.—A man giving the name of B. Shirgood was arrested on Fifteenth street, above Jefferson, yesterday morning, for beating his horse in a cruel and merciless manner. He used a board with all his strength upon his poor beast, until the outraged feelings of persons passing in the vicinity induced them to interfere and have him arrested. He was taken before Alderman Fitch, and, after a hearing, he was committed to answer.

CHOLERA.—The number of cases reported to the Board of Health, up to noon to-day, was six.

WHY HE LEFT FRANCE—

Our cousin, Boo Harris,
Has come back from Paris
Already, and thus complains he:—
"There's a fearful lack, oh!
Of chewing tobacco
In France, and that won't do for me.
All the sights that I saw
I'd not give for a 'chaw;'
Nor for those French fripperies all
Exchange the styles of Tower Hall!"

Our stock of Men's, Youths', and Boys' Clothing is the fullest and most complete in Philadelphia. Prices are lower, and nearer those of old times, than for several years.

THE "ALABAMA" CLAIMS MUST BE PAID!—We have let the account run long enough, and as "short payments make long friends," it would seem the part of friendship as well as policy to insist on the cash down. Perhaps one great cause of the number of friends of Charles Stokes & Co.'s One-Price Clothing House, under the Continental, is that cash or short credits is the rule there.

WHEN THE LEAVES ARE TURNING BROWN.

BY MRS. ELIZABETH AKERS.

Never is my heart so gay
In the budding month of May,
Never does it beat a tune
Half so sweet in blooming June,
Never knows such happiness
As on such a day as this,
When October dons her crown,
And the leaves are turning brown.

Breathe, sweet children, soft regrets
For the vanished violets;
Sing, you lovers, the delights
Of the golden Summer nights;
Never in the Summer hours
On my way such radiance showers,
As from heaven falls softly down
When the leaves are turning brown!

Braid your girdles, fresh and gay,
Children, in the bloom of May;
Twist your chaplets in young June,
Maidens—they will fade full soon;
Twine ripe roses, July-red,
Lovers, for the dear one's head;
I will weave my richer crown
When the leaves are turning brown!

THE FENIANS.

Great Movement to Effect Irish Independence—Three Iron-Clads Offered to Head-Centre Stephens—An Expedition to Leave Before New Year's Day—The Roberts Fenians at Work—Preparations for Another Invasion of Canada—A Contract Awarded for Twenty Thousand Uniforms, Etc.

Those who believe that the Fenian movement died simultaneously with the official close of the Moffat mansion can ascertain their error by visiting the headquarters of James Stevens, in Chatham street, which are now used as a great arsenal, from which large supplies of rifles and revolvers are forwarded to Ireland. Yesterday this sanctum of the Fenian chief presented an unusually animated scene. Within the few parlors which complete the headquarters was transacted business which is to culminate in an immediate revolution in Ireland. All the particulars we have received in relation to the movement are as follows:—

THREE IRON-CLADS OFFERED TO JAMES STEPHENS.

The magnitude of the revolution which is soon to commence in Ireland will, of course, depend on the supply of the munitions of war from this country. Aware of this important fact, the Head Centre has been in communication with some of the most worthy Irish merchants in the city, with a view of obtaining the sinews of war, and they have nobly responded to his call. These gentlemen have substantially evinced their sympathy for the cause of their fatherland, by offering Mr. Stephens three iron-clad vessels, with the necessary armaments, and of course the gifts were at once accepted with thanks. These steamers will compose the nucleus of the Fenian fleet, which will leave a certain port in the United States for a deserted inlet in Ireland, before the year 1867 is ushered into existence. The timely donation of these men-of-war has naturally created great joy among all the circles, and especially in the ranks of the "Army of Liberation."

THE FENIAN EXPEDITION.

The leaders of the movement declare that it will be unnecessary to forward large numbers of men from this country to join in the struggle for Celtic independence. The fighting population in the Green Isle, who are anxious to cross swords with the perfidious Saxon, are believed sufficient to rid the land of English rule forever. An envoy arrived at the headquarters yesterday from Dublin, who reported that, after a tour through the south and west of Ireland, he received returns from the various military officers showing that there are one hundred thousand men ready to revolt against the Government the moment they receive arms and the prearranged signal. Rifles have already been placed in the hands of a portion of this vast force, and the remainder will be supplied in a few weeks. Our reporter is not permitted to reveal the points where the revolution is to begin, but it is openly stated that the midnight seizure of Dublin Castle is a part of the performance.

UNIFORMS FOR THE PATRIOTS.

The official character of the revolution is amply illustrated by the fact that those engaged in it are to present the appearance of soldiers of a regular service. They are to wear uniforms of green cloth, which will promote discipline, and revive the old and honored associations of the Fatherland in the days

When Malichi wore the collar of gold
Which he won from the proud invader!

THE ROBERTS FENIANS.

The headquarters of Colonel Roberts, on Broadway, also show signs of earnest work. The President of the organization has just awarded a contract for twenty thousand uniforms for the Fenian army who are ready to invade Canada, and use it as a base of operations to secure the independence of Ireland. A large quantity of arms have been purchased for those who are eager for the fray, and with those previously on hand, over twenty thousand men can be supplied. There is no truth whatever in the rumor that Colonel Roberts has sold any of the Fenian arms to Santa Anna.—N. Y. World yesterday.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC GOSSIP.

The Indecency of the Drama called "The Black Crook."

From the Louisville Courier, October 18.

Our Eastern, or rather, as they are generally termed, Yankee brethren and sisters are especially on the high moral stilts. 'Twas among them originated the patent high pressure idea of a new God, a new Bible, and a new religion. 'Twas there that women abandoned their legitimate sphere, and took to the forum to instruct men in matters of which the fair lecturers were profoundly ignorant. 'Twas there that all the new isms that throw aside all the moral and social amenities that keep the human race above the brute creation, had their birth. 'Tis from there we get all the obscene publications and prints that are demoralizing our youth. 'Tis there are first introduced, in their first-class theatres, the bawdy dramas that are only enacted in the very lowest grade of Paris theatres for the delectation of the very lowest scum and filth of Parisian society. Certainly the "dramatizations from the French," with which we have been favored from time to time, were obscene enough to suit the most depraved taste. But it seems not to be so. New York required something more loose and obscene yet, and New York has now got it in the shape of a play called The Black Crook. This is a dramatization of a very old and very dirty book, written in the days of the Pompadour, and the circulation of which was suppressed by law in later and more decent times. We are sorry to say that we are indebted to Mr. Charles M. Barras, a man whom we would not have suspected of prostituting his talents by employing them in such work, for this drama. But Barras wrote it, and Manager Wheatley is playing it at Niblo's, and not only playing it, but multitudes are turned away nightly, and Mr. Wheatley pockets $2500 at each exhibition.

The Black Crook depends for its popularity upon the lascivious pictures formed upon the stage. There are several "demon" and other dances, in which fifty-three girls, selected for their beauty of feature and perfection of form, take part in an entirely nude state, except a narrow cloud of thin gauze that conceals nothing. So depraved have his audience become, that Manager Wheatley finds it a paying dodge to hang out large transparencies before his theatre each night, announcing that the "demon dance comes off at 9:30." This dance is particularly luscious, and cannot fail to inspire auditors with ideas and rouse emotions of a most sublimely moral nature. How long will this devil's work be allowed? Niblo's ought to be burned to the ground by the decent part of the community, and Manager Wheatley either hung or driven from the country. Forty thousand additional houses of prostitution in the city of New York could not do one tithe the damage to the morals of the rising generation that this fellow Wheatley is now doing.

"Blind Tom."—"Blind Tom" has excited even more wonderment in England than his marvellous performances called out here. The London Orchestra publishes a letter from Charles Halle about him, in which occurs the following:—"The boy's musical gifts seem to me quite marvellous; and the manner in which he repeated several pieces I played to him, which he had evidently never heard before, was most remarkable. I named to him several notes, choosing the most difficult and perplexing intervals; these he instantly sang with perfect truth of intonation, although they might have puzzled a well-educated musician. Altogether, "Blind Tom" seems to me almost singular and inexplicable phenomenon."

An Old Comedy Revived.—The famous old comedy of the Heir at Law has recently been produced at the London Haymarket, where it was originally brought out in 1795. The parts first represented by Fawcett, Suett, and Munden—"Dr. Pangloss," "Lord Duberly," and "Zekiel Homespun"—were performed by Messrs. Compton, Chippendale, and Buckstone.

"L'Africaine."—In one place, at least, L'Africaine has been unsuccessfully produced—at Melbourne, Australia. This, however, may be nothing against the opera.

Mr. Adams.—It is announced that Mr. Adams, who is still engaged at the Opera House at Berlin, will sing in England from Christmas till Easter.

"Macbeth."—Macbeth has been revived at Drury Lane, with Mr. Phelps as "Macbeth," and Miss Amy Sedgwick as "Lady Macbeth."

New Drama.—A new historical drama, by Mr. William B. Phillips, called Marlborough, is in active rehearsal at the London Adelphi.

Auber's New Opera.—M. Auber's forthcoming opera is to be called Le Premier Jour de Bonheur.

INSTRUCTION.

MONSIEUR ALEXANDRE WOLOWSKI would inform his friends and the public generally that he is now ready to give instruction in Singing and on the Piano. According to his own system which heretofore has proved so successful in rendering the voice powerful and melodious, and at the same time imparting that facility to enable the accurate reading of the most difficult passages. His system for the Piano enables his pupils to execute operatic and classical music with care, feeling, and brilliancy.

MISCELLANEOUS JOTTINGS.

—A letter of the 27th of September from Alexandria, Egypt, says that the country was threatened with an inundation of the Nile, then very high. There was great anxiety for the crops, which were very fine in all Lower Egypt, and which it was feared would be spoiled. Every precaution was being taken, but the situation of affairs seriously affected trade. The revolt in Candia will have imposed heavy charges on the Egyptian treasury. The Viceroy is said to have furnished thirty thousand men, four of his principal generals, including the Minister of War, money, coal, ammunition, and provisions. The Suez Canal Company contemplates soon undertaking the transport of certain kinds of merchandise, but it seems doubtful whether they will be able to supply sufficient means of conveyance. The traffic across Egypt is enormous. Lately, in a very short space of time, twelve thousand bales of manufactured goods for India passed over the Suez line, and a great deal of cotton comes from Bombay by that route. There has been a reduction of twenty-five per cent. on the rate of carriage of goods sent by slow trains.

—A letter from Seville in the Paris Temps gives an extraordinary account of a decree which the Governor of that city is endeavoring to carry out, by which heavy fines are levied on all who say anything irreverent of the Virgin or of sacred things or of Catholic dogmas. According to the writer, English visitors are especially annoyed by this legislation. Some of the expressions which are prohibited are those, it is hinted, with which Englishmen are proverbially liberal. One day an Englishman passes the host and omits to kneel—he is fined. He passes a church or a cross and keeps on his hat—a fine. Already, it is stated, one Englishman refused obedience, and calling his fists to his aid, freed himself alike from the policemen, the fine, and the lock-up. A Prussian, the other day, thinking of the laurels of his king, was guilty of disobedience, and claimed his nationality as a Prussian as a defense; but this seems to have been bad policy, for the fine in his case was doubled.

—The Paris correspondent of the Independance Belge says:—"It has long since been stated that the King of Portugal was decidedly opposed to a union of the two crowns of Spain and Portugal in the person of the same sovereign, even were he himself selected. Such is not only the feeling of the young King, but it is that of the entire Portuguese nation. An echo of those sentiments may be traced in the very cordial reply made by Queen Isabella to the address of Count Avila upon the occasion of his presenting his letters of credence, a reply which has been published in the Paris Moniteur. It is stated that the Emperor Napoleon has made known through his Ambassador in Spain, that whatever events may occur in the Peninsula, he could never allow the Montpenster branch of the family to be called to the throne."

—A new and singular theological controversy has broken out in England. Proceedings are about to be taken against the vicar of Sturminster Marshall, in the diocese of Salisbury, for omitting to read the Athanasian Creed on the appointed days; for omitting to use the catechism prayer, and substituting one of his own composing; for substituting the Prayer-Book collect against pestilence for the cholera prayer appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury; for abbreviating the exhortation at morning and evening prayer; for not wearing his hood; for denying the doctrine of everlasting punishment; and for "sympathizing with Colenso, Williams," etc.

—The Scotsman says that a gentleman residing in the neighborhood of the river Esk has, after repeated observation and experiment, discovered that the solid refuse of shale used in the manufacture of paraffine oil is a most perfect purifier of the filthiest water. Two bottles, one of them filled with the sewage and the other with Crawley water, as used by the inhabitants of Edinburgh, were submitted to an eminent medical practitioner, who, upon being requested to select the one preferable for drinking purposes, unhesitatingly chose that which had been purified by the shale refuse. This substance is at present thrown aside by the manufacturers of paraffine oil as valueless.

—A strange petition has been made by a prisoner in Dundee jail in Scotland. The petitioner, Peter Luke, a young man, was charged with theft, and found guilty, with a recommendation to mercy. The prisoner now declares that during his trial, which lasted two days, several of the jurymen were asleep, and that during the night they were in charge of no officer of the Court, and went whither they chose, and conversed with persons about the guilt or innocence of the prisoner; that several of them imbibed a large quantity of intoxicating drink; and he claims his discharge on the ground of the incompetency of the jury.

—The Chicago Tribune mentions a strange mortality recently among the horses in a section of Illinois, several valuable animals having died within the past few days. It is reported to have been caused by the grasshoppers, which, being taken into the mouth, bite the tongues of the animals and make them so sore that they will not eat thereafter, and starve to death. The cases have occurred only among horses turned out to grass.

—Miss Braddon is in trouble. Her new magazine, Belgravia, is already the subject of legal proceedings. It appears that Hogg & Son, a publishing firm in London, have issued the first number of a periodical with the same name, insisting that they long ago projected the enterprise and registered its title in October, 1863. Miss Braddon's publishers have applied for an injunction, and the case is pending before Vice-Chancellor Stuart.

—An American and an English sailor were lately before a London magistrate for profanity—the American for cursing her Majesty, and the Englishman for using blasphemous language. The American was fined $6 for cursing a monarch to whom he owed no allegiance, while the Britisher was fined $4 for reviling his Creator.

—About the beginning of last month a vessel was wrecked on the east coast of Ireland. The crew were saved by the people on shore, and the daughter of the captain was saved by a constable, through her clinging to his whiskers, and he bravely brought her to shore in this manner.

—A Milwaukie young lady had her "cap set" for a rather large "fellier," but failed to win him, when a confidant tried to comfort her with the words, "Never mind, Mollie, there is as good fish in the sea as ever was caught." "Mollie knows that," replied her little brother, "but she wants a whale."

—A London correspondent says it will astonish rent payers in American cities to be informed that in the nicest and healthiest parts of London, handsome three-story and basement, or eight-roomed houses, in perfect order, can be rented at from $250 to $300 per annum.

—A San Francisco paper says there are seventy-five thousand coolies in California; and they are a demoralizing blight to any community in which they are domiciled. It says "they are filthy, thievish, and inhumously vile."

—While the celebrated giant Ching (height about eight feet; weight, twenty stone) was on exhibition at Worcester, England, the prodigy stumbled, and out rolled two living bodies, one of which had been hoisted "a top o' t'other."

—There is a workingmen's club house in Glasgow, where, for twelve-and-a-half cents a month, a man can have a quiet place to smoke his pipe, read all the principal papers and magazines, or while away an evening with innocent games.

—The number of men flogged in the army and militia of Great Britain and Ireland in 1865 was 941; and of lashes inflicted, 21,561. The number of men marked with the letter D 1502; with the letters B C, 90.

—A substantial brick house, containing eight rooms, has been purchased, and is in use, as a home for the newsboys of Cincinnati, Ohio. It is furnished with kitchen range, bens, and all that is necessary for the comfort of the boys.

—An eminent German musician says there are better judges of music in the United States, better critics, and better performers than can be found in Europe.

—Anderson, the wizard, is bankrupt again.

WHISKY, BRANDY, WINE, ETC.

CHESNUT GROVE WHISKY,
No. 225 North THIRD Street.
If anything was wanted to prove the absolute purity of this Whisky, the following certificates should do it. There is no alcoholic stimulant known commanding such recommendation. On such high sources:—
PHILADELPHIA, September 9, 1866.
We have carefully tested the sample of CHESNUT GROVE WHISKY which you send us, and find that it contains NONE OF THE POISONOUS SUBSTANCES known as FUSIL OIL, which is the characteristic and injurious ingredient of the whiskies in general use.

NEW YORK, September 3, 1858.
I have analyzed a sample of CHESNUT GROVE WHISKY received from Mr Charles Wharton, Jr., of Philadelphia; and having carefully tested it, I am pleased to state that it is entirely FREE FROM POISONOUS OR DELETERIOUS substances. It is an unusually pure and fine-flavored quality of whisky.
JAMES R. CHILTON, M. D.,
Analytical Chemis
BOSTON, March 7, 1859.
I have made a chemical analysis of commercial samples of CHESNUT GROVE WHISKY, which proves to be free from the heavy Fusil Oils, and perfectly pure and unadulterated. The fine flavor of this whisky is derive from the grain used in manufacturing it.
Respectfully, A. A. HAYES, M. D.,

FRENCH MEDICINES IN VOGUE
BY GRIMAULT & CO.
Chemists to his Imperial Highness Prince Napoleon,
47 Rue Richelieu Paris.
NO MORE CONSUMPTION
GRIMAULT'S SYRUP of HYPOPHOSPHATE of LIME
For all Diseases of the Chest this Medicine is invaluable. It is largely used at the "BROMPTON" HOSPITAL in London, for Consumption, and generally approved by the Leading Medical Men in England and in France.
NO MORE COD LIVER OIL.
GRIMAULT'S SYRUP OF IODIZED HORSE-RADISH
This Syrup is employed, with the greatest success, in place of Cod Liver Oil, to which it is infinitely superior. It cures diseases of the chest, scrofula lymphatic disorders green sickness, muscular agony and loss of appetite. It regenerates the constitution by purifying the blood, and is, in a word, the most powerful depurative known. It is administered with the greatest efficacy to young children, subject to humors or obstruction of the glands.
NO MORE POVERTY OF THE BLOOD AND PALE COMPLEXION.
DR. LERAS PHOSPHATE OF IRON.
This new ferruginous medicine contains the elements of the blood and bones, and IRON in a liquid state. It is different from all hitherto offered to the public, is liquid colorless, and tasteless. It speedily cures CHLOROSIS.
PAINS IN THE STOMACH,
DIFFICULT DIGESTION.
DYSMENORRHŒA. ANEMIA.
The majority of the Academies of Medicine of Paris recommend the Phosphate of Iron to ladies of delicate constitution, suffering from Anemia and all other persons fatigued from over anxiety, nervous emotions, overwork, general debility and poorness of blood.
It is the only preparation which never causes constipation, and can be borne by the most delicate stomachs.
NERVOUS HEADACHES, NEURALGIA, INSTANTANEOUSLY CURED BY GRIMAULT'S GUARANA.
A vegetable Brazilian substance, entirely innocuous.
INTERNAL OR LOCAL
NEW CURATIVE AGENT,
MATICO.
GRIMAULT & CO., PARIS.
This new remedy is prepared from the leaves of a Peruvian pepper shrub called MATICO, and cures promptly and infallibly, without any fear of inflammatory results. The great majority of Physicians in Paris, Russia, Germany, and New York now use no other remedy.

The Head of Richelieu.

The Paris correspondent of the London Star says:—"The head of Richelieu was separated from his corpse during the first revolution in Paris. M. Fortoul was the first person to whom it occurred to restore the head to the remains of the once mighty Cardinal, but in spite of all his exertions he failed to do so. The present Emperor, with the help of M. Duruy, Minister of Public Instruction, has been more successful. The head having been discovered in the possession of M. Armez, a gentleman of Bretagne, who has presented it to his Majesty. Authentic documents proving its identity have been sent up with it. It appears that the head of the Cardinal was taken by a hosier of the Rue St. Denis during the breaking open of his tomb. The mob got into the coffin, and, trampling upon the embalmed corpse, cut it in pieces. The head was instantly taken possession of by the hosier, who, taking a favorable opportunity, hid it under his clothes, proud and happy to be the proprietor of so valuable a relic. Fearing, however, that it would be found out that he had robbed this treasure, he was suddenly seized with the idea of sawing it in two, so that the face alone is preserved from the forehead to the chin. It is this mask, as it were, that is now at the Ministere de l'Instruction Publique. It is perfectly mahogany colored, the teeth are beautifully white, and the moustache and imperial are of a reddish brown. Philippe de Champagni's portrait, which we have all gazed at in the square room of the Louvre, is proved to be a marvellous likeness—the outline of the features as correct as though it had been photographed.

The Distracted "Almanach de Gotha."

All the Year Round has the following:—

"There is consternation in the editorial room at Gotha. The Almanach for 1867 was almost ready to be launched forth into the world when, lo! like the simoom, Prussia sweeps over the North of Germany, and kings and princes are carried away by the blast like so many reeds; even the stalwart tree of Austria has lost many of its branches, blown away by the storm, though the stem still stands firm on its deep-set roots. The hurricane has lulled, the treaty of Prague calms for a time the troubled elements, diplomacy has done its work. But it is a much easier task to sign a treaty and exchange ratifications than to rewrite a compendium like the Almanach de Gotha. The whole German Confederation is extinguished, and Frankfort, the seat of the Diet, annexed; consequently the thirty-two States, including the Hanse towns, must be struck out of the Almanach, and the North German Confederation above the Main inserted instead. As regards the embryo Confederation of the Southern States, all is chaos. Then Austria has lost Venetia, Denmark has lost the Duchies, and, worst of all, no one knows whether the few remaining ninepins will not be bowled down by the strong arm of a Bismarck or of a Napoleon. It is easier to shoot a lion with a single bullet than to exterminate a nest of wasps. Saxony is not yet annexed, and may remain intact in the Almanach of 1867; but Hanover, Nassau, Hesse-Cassel, Darmstadt, and others must all have a pen struck through them, and added to Prussia. Prussia is like the devil-fish described by Victor Hugo in his "Travailleurs de la Mer." It holds in its strangling grip all the petty princes in Germany. We are in October; the continental arrangements are by no means settled, and the Almanach must appear on the 1st of January. We have good reason for saying, again, that consternation prevails in the editor's room at Gotha.

A Prison Outbreak About Tobacco.—The Toulon journals give accounts of a serious outbreak among the youthful convicts confined in a penitentiary in the Ile de Levant. A feeling of dissatisfaction was expressed among the convicts that they were not allowed longer periods of recreation and permission to smoke tobacco. The concession demanded being refused, the ruffians overpowered the warders, seized the director of the establishment and thrust him into a cell, plundered the stores of the establishment, and set fire to large quantities of petroleum and other inflammable materials which they found in the cellars. A coastguard signa man succeeded in rescuing the director, but at the risk of his own life, for he was caught by the convicts, who revenged themselves by casting him into a deep ditch, where he lay for a long time with a broken leg. Upon the news of the outbreak reaching Toulon, a strong military force was despatched, which speedily restored a certain degree of order, but the penitentiary buildings were almost entirely destroyed, and fourteen of its inmates were found to have perished in the flames. The principal leaders of the insurrection are said to be nearly all Corsicans, and none more than sixteen years of age.

Death of Surgeon C. S. Tripler, U. S. A.—We regret to see the announcement that Brigadier-General C. S. Tripler, Surgeon U. S. A., died at Cincinnati on the 20th instant, of cancer, at the age of sixty years. He was born in New York, in 1806, and was a gradnate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. On General McClellan's accession to the command of the Army of the Potomac, Dr. Tripler was appointed Medical Director, and at the time of his death was Medical Director of the Department of the Ohio. Dr. Tripler was an army officer of the old school, often petulant and peppery in his manner, but having a true warm heart beneath his gruff outside. In his profession he was a hard student and enthusiast, being, in that, something of an exception to many of his colleagues in the regular service. He was so universally known in "the old army" that there will be thousands to mourn his loss.

The Helmets of the London Fire Brigade.—The members of the Fire Brigade in London have their heads protected by a new helmet, which is thus described:—"The helmets vary in weight from two pounds two ounces to two pounds fifteen ounces, and are in appearance similar to those worn by the Dragoon Guards when on state duty. They have each a comb varying in height from three to five inches as a protection against falling bricks, etc. At the side of the comb are fiery dragons, with illustrations of the hose, stand cocks, axes, and other implements used at fires, the lower part of the helmet bearing the letters 'M. F. B.' (Metropolitan Fire Brigade)."

The Oldest German Newspaper.—The oldest journal in Germany, and one of the oldest in the world, has just disappeared. The Postzeitung (Post Office Journal), published at Frankfort, was established in 1616, and consequently had to describe the operations of the Thirty Years' War. This journal was the property of the Princes de la Tour and Taxis, who, it is known, were entrusted with the general postal administration of the German Confederation. Equally devoted to the Houses of Hapsburg and Taxis, the Postzeitung has fallen with them. It was tolerated by Wallenstein, but has been suppressed by Bismark.

Lively Patriarchs.—The Journal de Nice has the following:—"On the 8th instant, at Bleussase, Canton de Contes, arrondissement de Nice, Le Sieur A. C——, aged eighty-four, married before the Mistre and M. le Cure, M'me B——, aged eighty-one. After the benediction, the priest, according to usage, recommended the bride and groom to increase and multiply, and to bring up their children in the love and fear of the Lord. This the newly married couple promised to do. After mass this lively brace of patriarchs danced a jig (une gigue) in the public square."

If General Sherman Ever Profaned—When Sherman was in Toronto, a reporter sidled up to him and said, "General Sherman, will you have the kindness to give me your views hon the Fenian question?" "Go to ——," was the answer.

—Any young lady may acquire a voice like that of Madame Parepa, if she will live six months upon omelettes made of nightingales' eggs.—Washington Republican.
